HC orders CBI probe into doc rape-murder

Tells erstwhile principal of her college to go on long leave

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @Kolkata

THE Calcutta High Court on Tuesday ordered a CBI probe into the rape and murder of a postgraduate trainee doctor at the city's RG Kar Medical College, and directed its erstwhile principal Dr Sandip Ghosh not to join duty in another hospital till further orders.

The orders came a day after Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee sought to buy time to hand over the case to the CBI, saying she would wait for the police to crack it till Sunday before she takes the call.

A division bench led by Chief Justice T S Sivagnanam urged the agitating doctors in the state to call off their cease-work protest, saying they have a "pious obligation" to treat patients who come to government hospitals. Junior doctors and interns across West Bengal ceased work since Friday, when the body of the victim was found, demanding justice for her, an impartial CBI probe and adequate protection to all the hospital staff.

The bench observed that five days after the horrific incident, no significant progress had been made in the investigation by the Kolkata Police. The state's counsel submitted that one person has been arrested and statements of more than 25 people have been recorded.

The bench also ticked off Dr Ghosh for not being proactive in dealing with the murder that happened under his watch as principal. While he resigned as principal on Monday, hours later he was appointed principal of the Calcutta National Medical College. The court was appalled at the alacrity with which he was rehabilitated by the state government and directed him to go on long leave.

Protesting junior doctors of the Calcutta National Medical College and Hospital did not let Dr Ghosh join duty on Tuesday. 'Go back' slogans rent the air as Trinamool Congress MLA Javed Khan accompanied him to the campus but the students did not allow Dr Ghosh to enter the principal's room.

CBI TAKES OVER PROBE

The CBI on Tuesday took over the probe and its team from Delhi, along with forensic scientists and medical experts, will visit Kolkata on Wednesday

NEXT HEARING IN 3 WEEKS

The city police has to hand over all papers on the case to the CBI today. The case will be heard again after three weeks, when the CBI will submit its progress report

J&K assembly poll schedule next week

MUKESH RANJAN @New Delhi

THE Election Commission of India (ECI) will hold a meeting with Union home secretary Ajay Kumar Bhalla on Wednesday to review the security situation in Jammu & Kashmir and assess the requirement of security personnel. The poll panel is expected to announce the dates for assembly elections in the Union Territory (UT) next week.

The three-member ECI had travelled to the UT last week to review the poll preparedness there. Speaking to reporters in Jammu, Chief Election Commissioner Rajiv Kumar had said the poll panel was committed to holding assembly elections in the UT at the earliest, adding that no outside or internal forces could derail the electoral process.

Jammu & Kashmir had registered a record turnout in the last Lok Sabha polls. At that time, Kumar had said: "This active participation is a huge positive for assembly elections to be held soon so that the democratic process continues to thrive in the Union Territory."

Whenever assembly elections are held in Jammu and Kashmir, they will be the first since provisions of Article 370 of the Constitution were done away with and the erstwhile state of J&K was divided into two UTs – J&K (with assembly) and Ladakh (without assembly) in August 2019.

STUDY BLAMES IT ON CLIMATE CHANGE

10% HEAVIER RAINFALL LED TO DISASTER IN WAYANAD

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @New Delhi

THE catastrophic landslides in Kerala's Wayanad on July 30 were caused by climate change, says a new analysis by World Weather Attribution (WWA). It says the shift in weather patterns, caused by human activities, triggered a 10% heavier rainfall burst in the region, which in turn resulted in the landslips.

To mitigate the impact of such natural calamities in future, the WWA—an international collaboration of climate scientists who conduct rapid assessments of extreme weather events—recommends minimising deforestation and quarrying along with improvement of early warning and evacuation systems. The study also recommends replacing fossil fuels with renewable sources of energy to reduce the one-day burst rainfall-like conditions.

The study 'Landslide-triggering rainfall made more intense by human-induced climate change, devastating highly vulnerable communities in northern Kerala' was done by a group of climate scientists, researchers and institutions associated with WWA.

It notes that the region witnessed 146 mm of rainfall in a single day, which is the third heaviest on record in Kerala.

Vulnerable district

The soils in the hilly Wayanad district are among the loosest and most erodible in Kerala, with high risk of landslides during the monsoon season. The researchers say that construction in hillside areas, deforestation, and quarrying must be curbed to avoid similar disasters in the future

'Don't use fossil fuels'

"If the world does not move away from fossil fuels, one-day spells of rainfall in Kerala will become a further 4% heavier, risking even more destructive landslides," says Mariam Zachariah, researcher, Grantham Institute - Climate Change and the Environment, Imperial College London

Rehearsal for cultural programmes in full swing ahead of the 78th Independence Day celebrations at Manekshaw Parade Ground, on Tuesday | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

Schoolkids will present schemes; All prep complete

FIELD Marshal Manekshaw Parade Ground is prepared for the grand Independence Day celebration in Bengaluru on Thursday. This time, a cultural programme on the state government's five ambitious guarantee schemes will be presented by 400 schoolchildren.

Addressing a joint press conference with Bengaluru Urban Deputy Commissioner Dayananda KA and Police Commissioner B Dayananda, Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said all preparations were completed for the grand celebrations, in which around 8,000 people will participate.

He said rehearsals have been going on for the parade, and 35 teams conducted cultural programmes for the past three days besides a full dress rehearsal. Girinath said the Independence Day programme is being organized by BBMP and Bengaluru Urban district administration, and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah will hoist the national flag at 9am on Thursday. After receiving the guard of honour and reviewing the parade, the CM will address the gathering.

A total of 8,000 seats have been arranged, including 3,000 seats for the public, 2,000 seats for VVIPS, 750 seats for freedom fighters and defence officials, and 2,000 seats for officials of various departments and ex-servicemen.

Commissioner Dayananda said security checks have been conducted at Manekshaw Parade Ground and surrounding areas. High-rise buildings and work sites near the ground have been inspected. In addition, the 108 police stations have carried out inspections everywhere, including railway stations and hotels in their respective jurisdictions.

Four coloured passes have been issued for parking of vehicles, specifying the entry gate on the passes. No vehicles can be parked around the ground, and vehicular traffic will be prohibited from BRV Junction on Cubbon Road to Kamaraj Road Junction from 8am to 11am, Dayananda said.

Connecting the dots: BMTC starts 2 routes a month

AKNISREE KARTHIK @ Bengaluru

IN about a year, Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) has introduced nearly 40 new bus routes to new areas, residential layouts, Metro feeders and other areas based on demand. Of these new routes, 70 per cent are running successfully and the remaining 30 per cent routes are modified.

Among the new bus routes, the service between Madavara on Tumakuru Road and Electronics City on Hosur Road via NICE Road, and routes like the HSR Layout Metro feeder bus service are popular. To cater to increasing demand across the city, the bus corporation is introducing an average of two new bus routes every month.

Sharing details on how the new bus routes are decided, BMTC Chief Traffic Manager GT Prabhakar Reddy said, "Multiple factors are considered when we introduce a new route. We look at the demand for a particular route from the people, communities, colonies and layouts. We also collect feedback from bus conductors and drivers as some buses run jampacked during peak hours, and this can be avoided if a new route is introduced."

Giving an example of the new Madavara to Electronics City route, Reddy said, "Before this route was introduced, people from Tumakuru Road had to struggle to reach Electronics City. We have seen people travelling in vans, trucks and other modes to reach Hosur Road for work every day. There was high demand, so we introduced buses on this route last November and the buses are running full on both trips."

He said the bus corporation is operating 21 schedules with 178 trips, with a bus every 15 minutes. Likewise, he said all new Metro feeder routes are doing well; the HSR Layout Metro feeder completed one year and carries more than one lakh passengers every month, he added.

GT Prabhakar Reddy, BMTC Chief Traffic Manager

"We have introduced nearly 40 new bus routes and will keep adding to them. Of these buses, 70 per cent are running successfully. In the remaining 30 per cent, we rework the route, modify it and reschedule," Reddy explained, adding that introducing new routes will continue to meet the increasing demand for buses.

Some of the new bus routes are: Vijaynagar to Wipro Gate Electronics City on NICE Road, Hebbal to Tubagere, Shivajinagar to Hessarghatta, Yelahanka to Hessarghatta and Malleswaram to Banashankari.

India second to none in space sector: Scientist

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH events and workshops under way across the nation to celebrate the first National Space Day to commemorate the soft landing of Chandrayaan-3's lander and rover on the Moon, the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) hosted a workshop on the interdisciplinary use of space technologies to better manage water resources on Monday.

The event was organised in collaboration with Karnataka's Water Resources Department, National Hydrology Project (NHP), Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) and other government research bodies.

During his address, M Shankaran, Director, UR Rao Satellite Centre (URSC), said the recent journey of India in the space sector has proved that the country is second to none. "While we give the necessary tools and applications to the country, we also want to bestow confidence in the youth. The NISAR mission is scheduled to be launched soon, with an investment of USD 2 billion dollars, which shows India's growing prowess," he said.

In a message, DK Shivakumar, DyCM and Water Resources Minister, said, "Space technology has become a pivotal tool in managing and optimising water resources. Satellites have revolutionised the water resources sector by providing accurate, real-time data essential for effective water management."

He added that the NHP is a significant initiative to improve the country's water resource management through advanced technologies. "This access to data in real-time and the creation of centralised date centres under NHP, for both surface water and groundwater, along with remote sensing, have enabled water resource managers to manage and monitor floods and droughts in real-time and better crop water management in these times of climate change," he said.

BBMP claims 20k saplings planted, lake activists say numbers fudged

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) forest division has planted around 20,000 saplings in lake areas during its tree plantation week from August 6-12. However, lake activists have questioned the numbers, claiming that they may have been fudged by the contractors to inflate the cost of the plantation drive.

Ram Prasad, co-founder of Friends of Lakes, said the forest division's decision to carry out the plantation drive in lake areas raised doubts as already planted saplings could be taken into account and may be added to the bill.

"BBMP forest officials did not take up the drive in parks or on roadsides. In case there are any damages or breaches in lake bunds, the contractors and officials should be held accountable," said Prasad. He added that contractors engaged with the BBMP forest division are calling the shots, and an inquiry should be initiated. Defending the move of planting the saplings in lake areas, BLG Swamy, Deputy Conservator of Forests, BBMP, said activists and 'kere mitras' had raised some objections, stating they were not consulted before the drive. "We did not plant all saplings on lake bunds; we found space within a 1-km radius of lakes and planted the saplings," said Swamy.

An official said all saplings were bar coded, and the drive was conducted transparently. In case there is any damage to lake bunds within three years, the agency will be held accountable, and the contractor concerned will have to plant the same number of saplings that perish.

PETER VIDAL

14TH August : Deep in the background of all current planetary patterns is an intense and contradictory relationship between two great planets, Uranus and Pluto. This brings everything that's safe and secure into a direct collision with all that's dreamy and imaginative. If you're confused, don't worry. So are many other people.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Your mood lightens, but perhaps not until late in the day. That's OK, though, for you have to try to see how those waves of intense feeling can be of use to you. For starters they will help you understand just how other people feel, and that has to be a good thing. Just remember that today is a moment to stick to the facts - as closely as you can.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
If other people are getting on your nerves then the end is in sight - or at least a temporary respite; it all depends how deep your irritation goes. You can probably do yourself a great deal of good by letting partners do whatever they must while keeping your distance. You are entitled to defend yourself in any appropriate manner.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
There's a wonderful song with the words in which the singer tells show he can see clearly now that the rain has gone. That's a little like the feelings you could experience today, now that the Moon is taking up an entirely more open and honest position. My first and major piece of advice would be to listen to partners' words and give them the space they need.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Time for some of your sensible thoughts, I think. You're still inclined to worry about nothing, so why not sit down, make out a list of your doubts and questions, with their possible solutions and answers, and try to figure out what you can actually do. And, remember, with Venus positively placed, there is always help and support should you need it.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
In common with several other signs, you'll experience a lightening of your state of mind today, although the timing will be different for each one of you. The planetary system shifts towards increasing adventurousness, and you'll re-discover the courage to pursue some of your more creative goals, including, for some of you, a romantic tryst.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
If it's love you're interested in (and who isn't?) today brings one of those delicate, inspired and beautiful planetary alignments that could see enlightened, inventive and creative new feelings. And that points to the chance of a delightful personal encounter. It's also great, by the way, for all artistic types.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You're still a little bit cagey, unsure of whom you can confide in. But, then, you're probably right to be defensive - at least until you know exactly what's going on. By late today you'll have a much better idea of where you stand, and you'll be confi- dent enough to state your case. That looks like good news to me, just as long as you stick to the point!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Mars, your planetary ruler, is on fine form today, hooking up with Venusian elements in your chart. In simple terms, this means that there is room for passion and pleasure. Really, it all depends whether you have truly tied up all loose ends dating back over the last six months. If you haven't, you still might not have much time off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Venus and Saturn are a wonderful pair of planets, encouraging conventional relationships and conservative lifestyles. I guess the question is whether this suits you - or not! It all depends how patient you are. Can you wait until tomorrow? The best advice is probably to do so - or even to wait until next week.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Your planetary ruler, Saturn, has a serious, sober reputation. It's making a neat alignment today, one which gets you thinking. First of all, you'll gather the information, then you'll face the facts. Lastly, you'll take a considered judgment. At least, that's the best possible outcome!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You're never that comfortable when feelings are intense, so you could be relieved as the hours pass and emotions lighten. Mind you, it's not a day to break ranks. I'd say that you'll do well if you pause for thought, put your fantasies to one side and take a long, hard, serious look at all important invitations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There's a great deal on your mind, much of it intensely personal. Home and family matters are foremost, and the key to a successful outcome is to keep talking - and be a good listener. Your romantic stars are reassuring. Or rather, they indicate that you'll receive great comfort from someone you were hoping all along that you'd be able to rely on.

KIA VOLVO RAMS SIX VEHICLES ON HEBBAL FLYOVER, BIKER HURT

Slow traffic prevents serious injuries

A screen grab from a security camera inside the Volvo bus shows the moment the driver rammed his vehicle into cars on Hebbal flyover on Monday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A motorcyclist suffered serious injuries and six vehicles, including two four-wheelers, were damaged when the driver of a BMTC Volvo bus lost control over his vehicle and rammed them on Hebbal flyover in the city on Monday morning.

The bus was proceeding to HSR Layout from Kempegowda International Airport. But for the slow-moving traffic on the flyover, it would have been a tragedy. The bus came to a halt after one of the damaged cars stopped horizontally in front of it. A video of the accident has gone viral.

The injured motorcyclist has been identified as Akash Patil, 27. He fractured his leg in the accident and is being treated in a private hospital at Hebbal. He was going to RT Nagar from Yelahanka.

The impact of the accident was such that the motorcycles that were hit by the bus fell after ramming the left wall of the flyover. Eyewitnesses said the motorcyclists should consider themselves lucky as the bus did not veer off to the left side of the flyover. Even those in the four-wheelers escaped without any injuries.

The police suspect that the driver must have pressed the accelerator pedal instead of the brakes. Malfunction in the braking system of the bus is also being looked into, they said.

Hebbal traffic police have registered an FIR against the driver and seized the bus.

Meanwhile, a press release from the BMTC said that an accident involving bus No KA-57-F-1797 of Depot 25 occurred near the Esteem Mall. Six vehicles were damaged in the accident, the press release added.

BMTC chief traffic manager GT Prabhakar Reddy told TNIE that the driver had an accident-free 13-year service record. However, the dashcam revealed that the driver was driving the bus in a negligent manner, which led to the accident. Action will be initiated against him, he said.

Did the brakes fail or was the driver at fault?

AKNISREE KARTHIK
@ Bengaluru

THE serial accident on Hebbal flyover involving a BMTC Volvo bus has triggered a debate whether the brakes failed or the driver was at fault.

A bus driver said all BMTC buses are thoroughly checked at the corporation's depots once a week. Volvo buses come with automatic transmission and have only brake and accelerator pedals. In driving mode, without pressing the accelerator pedal, the bus can move at a speed of 15 kmph. "The dashcam footage shows the bus moving slowly and stopping seconds before the accident and again moving," he added.

"Looks like the driver pressed the accelerator instead of the brake pedal by mistake as we can see the bus gaining speed suddenly and ploughing through the vehicles in front of it," he said. He said accidents involving BMTC Volvo buses are not common. The buses come with the best technology and offer better control systems compared to other transport vehicles.

A senior BMTC official said the corporation has ordered a probe into the accident. "The driver has a good service record. However, the dashcam footage makes us suspect that he was not focussed and panicked after the bus hit the vehicles and stepped on the accelerator pedal." He said only a detailed probe will reveal whether the brakes failed or the driver was at fault.

FSL report out, more trouble for Darshan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE police investigating the Renukaswamy murder case, in which actor Darshan Thoogudeepa was arrested, have received the report from the Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL). It confirms the matching of fingerprints of 10 accused. The fingerprints were collected at the scene of crime and on the murder weapons and a vehicle that was used to dispose of the body.

The forensic report is said to have confirmed the victim's blood stains on the clothes of six main accused. Clothes, footwear and leather items, which the six accused were wearing at the time of the incident, were recovered from their respective houses after their arrests.

The email copy of the report was sent to the investigators on Monday evening, and City Police Commissioner B Dayananda reportedly held a meeting with them late on Monday evening.

According to police sources, the findings in the FSL report will bring more trouble for the 47-year-old actor, who has been lodged at Bengaluru Central Prison since June 22. However, it is not the final FSL report and the report is just 70 per cent and the remaining 30 per cent is yet to come from the Central Forensic Science Laboratory in Hyderabad. The recovered clothes were reportedly washed and the shoes were also cleaned. Despite this, the luminol test managed to find the victim's blood stains on the clothes and shoes of the accused, sources said.

Luminol tests detect trace amounts of blood that would be undetectable for the naked eye. The report also reportedly confirmed the blood on the rope, wooden sticks and the vehicle that was used to dispose of the body at the Summanahalli stormwater drain.

The police officers have managed to collect over 200 crucial pieces of evidence which will make the case strong and the chances of the 17 accused getting bail very difficult. Even the postmortem report has reportedly confirmed that the victim died due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of multiple blunt injuries.

Cops nab habitual offender after chase

A 28-year-old habitual offender, who had been absconding for the last three years, was arrested after chase by two head constables near the City Civil Court on Tuesday. The accused, identified as Manoj alias Mark, a resident of Uttarahalli, has seven warrants against him in multiple cases, including murder, theft, and kidnapping for ransom in Hulivmavu, Rajajinagar, Suddaguntepalya and other police stations. Around 1 pm, head constables Varadaraja and Chandan of Suddaguntepalya police station had come to the court in connection with a case. They received information that Manoj was near the Visveshwaraya Metro station. The duo went to the Metro station and tried to nab him. But, he shoved them and fled towards the court gate, zigzagging through the parking lot to evade the police. The policemen chased him for about 150 metres and nabbed him, police said. The police said Manoj was arrested in 2021 and was released on bail. He failed to attend the court despite the notice and warrant. Man makes bomb threat to KIA, calls again to apologise

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

A staffer at the Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) received a fake bomb threat on Monday evening from a caller from Hyderabad. He made a second call and apologised for making the fake call. A Non Cognisable Report (NCR) has been booked against the individual and cops will proceed to Hyderabad to arrest him, said police sources.

A top cop told TNIE, "The reception desk at the airport received an anonymous call around 6.30 pm on Monday about a bomb being placed in both Bengaluru and Chennai airports. Within a few minutes, the individual made another call to the same number and apologised for the earlier call. He claimed he was in an inebriated condition earlier and so made the first call by mistake."

In the aftermath of the two calls, the Bomb Threat Assessment Committee in the airport held an emergency meeting. The call never specified the terminal or the flight or any specific location. "We came to the conclusion that it was a non-specific call, which means it is a bogus one. Hence, a call was taken to ignore it," he said. Operations at the airport were not disrupted in any manner, the cop added. "We also traced the call to Hyderabad. He specified his name as Reddy, but that could also be a fake name," the cop said.

A private company in Puttenahalli received a bomb threat email on Tuesday, and police declared it a hoax after checking of the premises. Police said the management of Broadcom received an anonymous email around 1 pm, in which the sender claimed that explosive materials were planted on the office premises. The police rushed to the spot along with bomb and sniffer squads, but did not find any explosive substances. A case has been registered. ENS

Beneficiaries to get dal, oil, sugar instead of cash

Recent survey says 93% of BPL card holders want essentials in lieu of free kg extra rice

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE state government may give oil, dal, sugar and other food items, instead of 5 kg of rice to beneficiaries under its Anna Bhagya scheme. The Congress government, though had promised 10 kg of rice per beneficiary per month when it came to power, has been able to supply only 5 kg of rice, while crediting money for the other 5 kg, as it has not been able to source the foodgrain.

In a survey conducted by the state government, 93% of the beneficiaries showed interest in getting other essentials along with 5 kg rice, instead of additional 5 kg, said Food and Civil Supply Minister KH Muniyappa.

"We will decide on it soon," the minister said. Muniyappa, who was in New Delhi, met Pralhad Joshi, Union Minister of Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution, on Tuesday and sought rice for the Anna Bhagya scheme.

On beneficiaries preferring dal, oil, sugar and other food items, Muniyappa said, "We will discuss it with CM Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar and decide on how to go about it."

He explained that free rice is being distributed to below poverty level (BPL) card holders and Karnataka has 13 lakh such cards. Over 50 lakh people are beneficiaries under the scheme. To cater to their needs, the state needs 20 metric tonnes of rice every month, he said.

"The National Cooperative Consumers' Federation of India Ltd that comes under the Union government has offered rice to us at Rs 28 per kg," he said. He pointed out that the state government had approached the Food Corporation of India (FCI), which was providing rice at Rs 34 per kg. "But now the Centre has decided on Rs 28 per kg. We will discuss it with Joshi, who is the minister concerned, and buy rice as per the state government's requirement," he said

Under the Anna Bhagya scheme, the Congress government had promised 10 kg of rice. But after FCI refused to provide the state with 5 kg of additional rice per person, the state government started giving Rs 170 per head in lieu of 5 kg rice.

HDK slams state govt over TB Dam incident

BENGALURU: Union minister HD Kumaraswamy blamed the state government for the damage to the crest gate at TB Dam. The "cash-for-postings" in the state government is the cause for it, he alleged. Speaking to the media in Bengaluru, Kumaraswamy said serious incidents like damage to the crest gate could be prevented if the government stopped giving postings by taking money. Kumaraswamy said he was CM twice and knew how the Congress leaders were involved in the transfers. If the offices get postings by paying money, how will they focus on their work, he questioned. The former CM also asked the state government to order a detailed probe into the TB Dam incident and try to find a permanent solution to the problem by consulting experts. ENS

TB reservoir Central project, BJP politicising issue, says Siddaramaiah

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Koppal

ACCUSING the BJP of being ignorant about even basic issues (pertaining to the TB dam crest gate breakage) and of politicising everything, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday said, "On the incident of the Tungabhadra reservoir crest gate no. 19, I am not ready to blame anybody."

Speaking to the media here on Wednesday, the CM said the Tungabhadra Board is headed by a chairman appointed by the Government of India, and members from Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, and Telangana are on it. The responsibility of managing the reservoir belongs to the Tungabhadra Board. But I don't blame anyone in this matter, he said.

"Crest gate no 19 was broken due to technical reasons, but instead of suggesting remedies or suggestions, many BJP leaders who visited the location, don't have any solutions. Hope it will rain from August 17, as per the weather forecast. In this tough situation, we are trying all that is possible to conserve water. Farmers need not worry, since in the coming days, the reservoir will once again be brimming with water following rainfall. I will again come and offer Bagina to the dam," he added.

Further, Siddaramaiah said, "At present, the Tungabhadra reservoir has 105 tmcft of water. But in order to repair the broken gate, 50-60 tmcft of water has to be released. It will rain till October this year and the reservoir is likely to hold more water again. As per the weather forecast, rain is expected again after August 15. Therefore, water will be soon fill up the reservoir again and the farmers will not face any kind of problems."

Dam will be maintained: CM

"DURING the meeting, the engineers informed me that they will begin the installation work on Wednesday," Siddaramaiah added. He said the experts' suggestions on dam maintenance will be followed henceforth. A parallel reservoir at Navali will be built at a cost of Rs 12,000 crore. A DPR is ready and he will discuss it with the CMs of Andhra Pradesh and Telangana soon, Siddaramaiah added.

Naidu said the new crest gate is ready. Four cranes from Bengaluru had reached Hosapete. The team is waiting for water storage in the dam to come down to 60 tmcft. Hopefully, the work will be completed by August 17, he added.

Krishnaraja Sagar Dam is safe, says agriculture minister

ENS @Mysuru

AGRICULTURE Minister N Chaluvarayaswamy on Tuesday reassured the public that the Krishnaraja Sagar reservoir is safe and secure.

He said CM Siddaramaiah has formed an expert committee to evaluate the condition of all the dams in the state after the crest gate at the Tungabhadra Dam was washed away on Sunday. "A committee has been formed to oversee the dams' maintenance, and their report confirms its stability," he said.

Addressing a meeting of the Karnataka Development Programme (KDP) at Cauvery Hall at the Zilla Panchayat office here on Tuesday, he said the district's 948 lakes are being filled, and adequate rainfall has ensured sufficient water supply for crops.

He instructed irrigation officials to address technical issues hindering water supply to certain areas and to prioritise filling of lakes, particularly in Malavalli and Maddur taluks.

"Officials must provide farmers with timely information and guidance on best practices in agriculture including proper seed sowing techniques, effective use of pesticides and fertilisers, adoption of suitable technologies and selection of appropriate crop varieties. There is a need for village-level officials to actively assist families of farmers who have died by suicide, ensuring they receive compensation without delay or hassle," he said.

Malavalli MLA P M Narendraswamy expressed concern over unauthorised resorts coming up on the KRS reservoir area. He raised an alarm about effluents from factories polluting water drinking water sources. He slammed irrigation officials for their inefficient management of water distribution. "Though the KRS dam was full two weeks ago, water has not reached the end of the Visvesvaraya Canal and the lakes still remain unfilled. Only 750-850 cusecs of water is being released, when 1,000 cusecs is needed," he said.

Later, Chaluvarayaswamy launched an informative poster outlining best practices and techniques for farmers to enhance paddy crop yields.

No handing over HMT land, will go to court, says Kumaraswamy

ENS @ Bengaluru

SLAMMING the Karnataka government for attempting to reclaim HMT land worth several crores of rupees, Union Steel and Heavy Industry Minister HD Kumaraswamy said there is no question of handing over HMT land to the state government. "In case the government makes any attempt to reclaim the land, we will go to court," he said.

Kumaraswamy spoke to the media on Tuesday in Bengaluru, where he objected to Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre's allegation that HMT had sold forest land illegally to various private companies. He also questioned Khandre on what basis he was ordering reclamation of the land, when it belongs to HMT. "They have purchased the land. Does the forest minister know the history of HMT industry? He is misleading everyone," he said.

There are 40 PSUs across the country, of which 26 are closed and the remaining are on the verge of closure. "After taking charge, I was working to revive PSUs and HMT is one such industry that gave jobs to thousands of people at six locations in the country, including Bengaluru, where 15,000 people were working," he said.

Providing details of payments made in 1963 and 1965 for the land, Kumaraswamy said efforts to rejuvenate HMT began after he became Union minister, and when the revival was announced, its share value saw a significant rise from Rs 45 to Rs 95. He expressed frustration over the lack of cooperation and confusion created by the state government during this effort.

WANT TO REVIVE KIOCL, VISL, SAYS HDK

BENGALURU: HD Kumaraswamy has said soon after he became Union minister, he signed the file related to Kudremukh Iron Ore Company. "I signed it to send it to the finance department for financial aid. But Congress leaders alleged that I signed it to damage the environment by allowing it to take up mining," he said, adding that thousands of employees working at KIOCL are in distress. He pointed out that during Siddaramaiah's previous tenure, he had also approved mining by KIOCL at Sandur, and got permission from the environment department. Kumaraswamy said he is also trying to revive Visvesvaraya Iron and Steel Limited at Shivamogga for which they need Rs 10,000 crore.

Will develop tree park on HMT land: Khandre

BENGALURU: The state forest department will develop the reclaimed land from HMT into a tree park, said Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre, who hit out at HD Kumaraswamy and said the forest land has been sold by HMT and not by the forest department. He said a tree park will be developed at Peenya, creating a lung space. The minister also alleged that HMT, which is under the Union government, is acting like a real estate agent and sold land to many private builders for Rs 313 crore, between 1997 and 2011. As per a 1896 gazette, the land has been mentioned as forest land. "Without denotifying or taking permission from the forest department, one cannot sell it," he added.

Spl court junks Pasha's plea against pvt complaints

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Special Court to try cases against sitting and former MPs and MLAs in the city on Tuesday dismissed an application filed by social activist Alam Pasha against the hearing of two private complaints by social activists Snehamayi Krishna and TJ Abraham.

They are seeking direction for a probe by an independent agency against Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, his wife Parvathy BM and others, in the alleged scam in allotment of sites by Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA), without prior sanction from the Governor. The two complaints are being heard on whether prior sanction is required to refer them for a probe.

When Judge Santhosh Gajanan Bhat began hearing the private complaint filed by Snehamayi Krishna, senior advocate Lakshmy Iyengar representing him objected to the interlocutory application filed by Pasha on the ground that he is not relevant to the case. The application should be dismissed with costs for wasting the court's time, she argued.

The court, however, expressed displeasure over the conduct of Pasha, as he was neither the affected party nor the complainant. The applicant Pasha is not seeking permission to lodge a complaint but is trying to stop the process of law and hence his application is dismissed, the court said.

After hearing the arguments, the court adjourned further arguments on Krishna's complaint to August 20 and Abraham's complaint to August 21.

MUDA case: Will await Guv's decision, says Dr G

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

HOME Minister Dr G Parameshwara on Tuesday said they will wait for the Governor's next move on a petition seeking permission to prosecute Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. Activist TJ Abraham has sought permission from Governor Thaawar Chand Gehlot to prosecute the CM in the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) sites allocation case.

Speaking to the media in Bengaluru, Parameshwara said they have been warning the opposition not to misuse the Governor's office. "After the show cause notice was issued, the Cabinet advised the Governor to withdraw the notice. We told him it was a mistake (to issue notice) and advised him to reject the petition," he said.

The Home Minister said the Governor has not taken any decision and they will wait and watch. He said they will discuss the issue after the court verdict in the private complaint against the CM.

Tricolour unit in Bengeri stares at losses after rule amendment

AMIT S UPADHYE @ HUBBALLI

THE only BIS-certified national flag making centre in the country at Bengeri of Hubballi is staring at a 40-50% loss in business this season. This is the first time that the unit is incurring a loss when a national festival is around the corner.

The unit prepares thousands of handwoven Tricolours in khadi throughout the year and during August 15 and January 26, the sales are high. Be it the Parliament building or Rashtrapati Bhavan, the Tricolours that flutter on some of the iconic buildings are woven here. Cargo ships from India too order large-sized Tricolours from this unit.

But the business is not growing for the Khadi Gramodyoga Samyukta Sangha of Bengeri. In 2021, the central government amended the Indian national flag code, allowing private manufacturers to make Tricolours in polyester and other materials. This change in rules has badly affected the unit's business.

"The amendment has certainly crippled the flag sales by up to 40 per cent this season. We used to make business of up to Rs 2 crore during August, but this year we have not even crossed Rs 1.2 crore. Many institutions which regularly purchased flags from us have not contacted us this time," said a senior official from the unit.

'Make khadi flags must'

However, government buildings and gram panchayat offices have to hoist Tricolour made out of khadi and all those orders come to the Bengeri unit. It has only women workers, who work in shifts every day. The raw material is procured from villages in Dharwad and Bagalkot.

"The government should make khadi flags mandatory for even private institutions. At public functions and rallies, for flags beyond a certain size, khadi should be made mandatory. This will help those associated with the khadi village industry for a long time," the official suggested.

Conservationists and activists from across Karnataka asked the government to make public the Madhav Gadgil report, and initiate a discussion on the pros and cons of the report. They also said a discussion must be held on declaring the eco-sensitive zones proposed by the central government

CWRC tells TN to release Cauvery water to P'cherry

Thanks to good rain, Karnataka released 100.2tmcft water to TN in June & July

JITENDRA CHOUBEY
@ New Delhi

THE Cauvery Water Regulation Committee (CWRC) has expressed satisfaction over the Cauvery water flow from Karnataka to Tamil Nadu's reservoir Mettur Dam. The committee has now directed the Tamil Nadu government to release water to Puducherry to meet its shortfall.

In its 101st meeting, the CWRC assessed that Karnataka has released 156.2 TMC water flows at interstate point Biligundlu, between June 1 and August 11, 2024 which is more than the required amount for the whole of monsoon.

As per water flow breakup at Biligundlu, Karnataka has released 98.8 tmcft water in June and July and another 55 TMC water flows between August 1 and August 11.

According to the Cauvery Water Disputes Tribunal (CWDT), as modified by the Supreme Court, Karnataka needs to transfer 87tmcft water between June to August. So far, it has transferred 156.2tmcft which is significantly higher than the stipulated seasonal target of 123tmcft between June-September.

"Because of good rainfall in the Cauvery basin, Karnataka has been releasing around 4.58tmcft water towards Biligundlu against the requirement 1.5tmcft per day," said Vineet Gupta, Chairman, CWRC.

"The India Meteorological Department (IMD) said that the basin will receive another spell of good rain for another 7-8 days. The basin has been receiving uninterrupted rain since July 14, which has eased the water stress in the region," added Gupta.

However, while Mettur Dam in Tamil Nadu has been soaked up with water flows form Karnataka, another important stakeholder of the Cauvery water, Puducherry is still facing shortage of water, as per CWDT order modified by the Supreme Court.

"We found that Puducherry's Karaikal reservoirs have a shortfall of 0.43 TMC water and instructed Tamil Nadu to release watter to Karaikal reservoir from Mettur," said Gupta.

He further said that it would take some time to reach water from Mettur to Puducherry. Puducherry's Nallambal reservoir received the season's first water from Mettur Dam on August 6. Subsequently, the local administration released water for agricultural purpose.

The next meeting of CWRC is scheduled on August 30 to reassess the situation in the Cauvery basin.

ED raids: KIADB officials connived with brokers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Dharwad

THE Directorate of Enforcement (ED), Bengaluru zonal office, on August 9, conducted search operations on 12 different premises in Bengaluru and Dharwad. The raids, conducted under the provisions of Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA), 2002, were related to an alleged fraud committed in land acquisition by the Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB), Dharwad zonal office.

KIADB had acquired properties for projects like the Hubballi airport and IIT Dharwad among others.

The raids were conducted on seven premises in Bengaluru, including the KIADB head office, and five premises in Dharwad-Hubballi, including KIADB Zonal office, Dharwad.

ED initiated the investigation based on an FIR filed against VD Sajjan, former special land acquisition officer, KIADB, Dharwad, and others associated with him, including realtors. Later, the case was transferred to CID. The FIR and chargesheet stated that Sajjan and other officials of Dharwad KIADB conspired with land brokers and other accused to sanction Rs 19.99cr to seven individuals on the pretext of compensation for land acquisition.

But these individuals had already been paid compensation earlier, causing loss to the government exchequer. The evidence gathered during the raid revealed that Rs 72.55 crore in total has been siphoned off using this modus operandi.

The evidence gathered includes the original payment register, final notification issued by KIADB for acquisition of land and RTGS payment forms prepared in the names of fake land owners.

It was also revealed that money was being siphoned off through 'Malki payments'. The raid also resulted in seizure of various incriminating electronic, digital evidence, records and documents, and recovery of Rs 1.50 crore cash.

Bank deposits in the name of the main accused amounting to Rs 55 lakh were also frozen. Details of movable, immovable properties acquired by the main accused have been gathered, and further investigation is on.

Cardiologist in Odisha rapes 2 patients, held

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Cuttack

EVEN as the rape and murder of a PG trainee doctor in Kolkata continues to trigger nationwide outrage, a doctor of the cardiology department of SCB medical college and hospital in Cuttack was arrested on Tuesday for raping two patients at the state's premier government hospital on August 11 night.

The 35-year-old doctor Dilba Singh Thakur, originally from Bhopal, was allegedly beaten up by angry family members and relatives of the two victims when the matter came to fore. He was admitted to the trauma ICU of the hospital. Singh, a DM cardiology resident doctor at SCB MCH, was discharged from the ICU on Tuesday evening and immediately taken into custody by police. Basing on the FIR filed by the victim's family, a case of rape has been registered against him under section 64(2)(e) of Bharatiya Nyay Sanhita (BNS) at Mangalabag police station.

The complainant stated in the FIR that on August 9, the two female patients suffering from cardiac issues were advised echocardiogram test. Dr Thakur reportedly advised them to come for the test on August 11. When they arrived as per schedule, he allegedly took them into the diagnostic unit one after the other while asking the female attendants to wait outside. He allegedly assaulted them sexually in the unit.

Cuttack DCP Prakash R said, the complainant had brought his 50-year-old mother and 44-year-old aunt suffering from heart problems for echo test. "Both the patients complained of pain in their private parts after the examination was over. They alleged the doctor inserted something in their private parts. Both are undergoing treatment at the obstetrics and gynaecology department of the hospital," the DCP said.

While police has recorded statements of the victims and launched an investigation into the incident, the state Health and Family Welfare department has also formed a three-member committee, headed by director medical education and training (DMET) Dr Santosh Kumar Mishra to enquire into the allegations.

"Investigation is underway to ascertain under what circumstances the tests were conducted by a male doctor in the absence of female patient attendants," said the DCP, adding the accused would be forwarded to the court after medical test.

Meanwhile, a counter FIR has also been filed against the complainant and others for physically assaulting the doctor.

B'luru-Kochi flights cheaper than luxury buses this Onam

KRISHNA KUMAR K E @ Kochi

IT'S almost a month for the Onam holidays, but the interstate luxury private buses have already jacked up ticket rates in the Bengaluru-Kochi sector, dealing a big blow to Malayalis in the IT hub who are planning to come home during the festive season.

Flights appear to be a cheaper option as one can book in advance tickets starting from Rs 2,500, instead of travelling by road where you are forced to pay over Rs 3,000 for a bus ticket. Tickets for popular trains, especially night trains, are fully booked already.

For instance, the ticket prices of AC luxury buses departing from Bengaluru on September 12 (Thursday) evening so as to reach Kochi the following morning, range from Rs 2,500 to Rs 5,200. Ticket booking apps such as 'Make My Trip' reveal that the ticket prices further rise on September 13. Road to employment: K'taka govt launches apprenticeship degree

@Bengaluru

TO equip students with employable skills, the state government on Tuesday announced a new course – apprenticeship embedded degree programme (AEDP) – in select 45 government first grade colleges across the state from the academic year 2024-25. This year, 1,373 students have registered, of which 884 are girls. The programme has been framed in line with the University Grants Commission.

During the launch of the programme, Higher Education Minister Dr MC Sudhakar said the department wants to offer skilled manpower to the industry and help students in rural areas and women.

An MoU was signed with representatives from degree colleges at the Karnataka State Higher Education Council in Bengaluru, in collaboration with CRISP (Centre for Research in Schemes and Policies) and Sector Skill Councils, who will facilitate the course.

The programme will be implemented under the Logistics, BFSI and Retail Sector Skill Councils in the form of three-year degree courses in Banking and Finance (BFSI), e-Commerce, Logistics and Retail, in select colleges by utilising the already existing infrastructure and faculty members.

"As a new course, students will pursue studies in their colleges during the first four semesters. They will undergo apprenticeship training during the 5th and 6th semesters in industries and organisations as decided by the respective Sector Skill Councils," said Sudhakar. He added that in the next three years, the government has set a goal of enrolling 14,000 students in AEDP.

VLVSS Subba Rao, Senior Advisor, CRISP, and former bureaucrat, said a monthly stipend of Rs 18,000-20,000 will be awarded to students. "This cost will be borne by different companies. The added benefit here is that those students who perform well, can be absorbed by companies," he said.

CAA a ray of hope for 13K refugees in Raichur dist

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Raichur

THE Union government's Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA) has given a ray of hope to Bangladeshi refugees living in rehabilitation camps at Sindhanur taluk in Raichur district for the past five decades.

Bangladeshi and Myanmarese refugees are living in RH No. 1 to 4 camps and the Burmese refugees in RH No. 5 camp.

During the liberation of Bangladesh in 1971, the then Prime Minister Indira Gandhi had allowed Bangladeshi and Myanmarese refugees, who had migrated to India, to live in Sindhanur taluk. Each family was given 5 acres of land for cultivation. Initially, some were granted Indian citizenship.

Rehabilitation camps, where Bangladeshi and Myanmarese refugees are living for the past five decades

Now, among the 25,000 residents living in these camps, more than 13,000 do not have Indian citizenship.

The residents here have been seeking citizenship for the past three decades. Documents of the residents have been submitted by the taluk and district administration, but citizenship has not yet been granted.

They have been struggling to get jobs and education. Their struggle for citizenship and caste certificates continues. But now the CAA has doled out hope among these residents. So far, 146 applications have been filed for citizenship.

Some, including Ramakrishnan Abhikari, Sukumar Mondal, Bipradasa Goldar, Jayanth Mondal, and Advith, were recently granted Indian citizenship by the Directorate of Census Operations, Union Ministry of Home Affairs. This has given hope to others too.

WITHDRAWN BROADCAST BILL OPENS DOORS FOR A MORE LIBERAL VERSION

THE information and broadcasting ministry has rightly withdrawn the Broadcasting Services (Regulation) Bill sensing dissonance on it. The ministry has said on X that it is working on a new draft and has invited stakeholders to give their opinions by October 15. Perhaps the government is aware that with a reduced majority, it would not be smooth sailing for a contentious bill that is seen not to be in consonance with Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution that enshrines the fundamental right to freedom of speech and expression. Based on the feedback received, the definition of a 'digital news broadcaster' was seen to be too broad. The bill brought in its ambit all manners of content creators including digital influencers, and posts on the likes of LinkedIn, YouTube and X.

What is particularly alarming is that with each round of revision in media regulations, the noose has gotten tighter. The broadcasting industry has been regulated for long by the omnibus Cable Television Networks (Regulation) Act, 1995. It is outdated today as its processes pivot on last-mile cable delivery, while a slew of other digital platforms have sprung up over the past two decades. The ministry initially circulated a Broadcasting Regulation Bill last November, which brought streaming services into its scope. It also sought to introduce a content evaluation committee comprising government and non-industry members to work like a censor.

Along with the bill came a slew of other media regulations in 2023—the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, Press and Registration of Periodicals Act and IT Rules—adding to the woes of an over-regulated industry. The revised broadcast bill of 2024 has gone a step further by including 'intermediaries' such as internet service providers, social media platforms and search engines in its regulatory sphere. The right to freedom of speech and expression is not absolute; Article 19(2) allows for 'reasonable restrictions' to protect, among other things, the sovereignty of the nation, and norms of decency and morality. On the other hand, if news flow is throttled and all forms of content are vetted by government bodies, the soul of the fundamental right to free speech will be extinguished. One can only hope that the revision process of the new broadcast bill will help broaden free speech and not impose new restrictions on it.

MAJHI GOVT NEEDS PLAN TO TACKLE HOT POTATO

FOR the Mohan Majhi government in Odisha, the humble potato has proved too hot to handle—quite literally. The kitchen essential has not climbed down from the ₹50-a-kg mark it touched in the state's retail markets a month ago. Odisha banks on West Bengal for potato supply. After the neighbouring state banned movement of the tuber to control local prices in mid-July, stocks dipped and prices rose across the border. The inflation has not just messed with the food budgets of middleclass and poor households in the state, but has also left the BJP government in a state of discomfort. Tough talks by the food supplies and consumer welfare minister, visits to mandis, and articulation of ambitious plans to procure stocks from Uttar Pradesh and Punjab have not worked. Majhi took up the matter with his counterpart Mamata Banerjee during the NITI Aayog meet late last month; that he had to dial Didi again on Sunday seeking her intervention in the matter reveals how delicate the issue is. Sustained price rises have a history of shaking up governments. At the moment, it's just not potato, but other essentials like vegetables are also too costly to be ignored.

It means the Majhi government has a crisis on its frying pan. Its decision to buy 300 tonnes from UP through the National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation, to be sold at ₹30 at some urban stations, can only be a short-term measure with limited impact. Instead, the government can tap into the price stabilisation fund to procure stocks from major supplying states. It would also require the government to take traders on board for retail distribution that would calm the prices. A more vigilant enforcement against hoarding is needed, too. This crisis is a baggage from the BJD regime, but blaming the regional party will not help. Odisha produces about 3 lakh tonnes of potato against its annual demand of 13 lakh tonnes, whereas West Bengal, India's second largest producer, grows a whopping 12.6 million tonnes. To absorb such shocks in the future, Odisha must ramp up production, invest heavily in cold storages and incentivise the crop's producers. The cash crop will lure farmers if the storage capacity is improved and decentralised. For that, a determined approach will be needed. Mere optics management will not make a lasting cut.

SECURING FUTURE ELECTIONS

BEFORE he could interview Donald Trump on X this Monday, Elon Musk's platform was swamped by a denial-of-service attack. The same day, the FBI confirmed it had launched an investigation into an alleged hack of the Trump campaign. Another report claimed the US agency was also investigating spear-phishing attempts targeting the Biden-Harris campaign. With its mostly offline machinery, the Indian voting system is safe from similar attacks to an extent. But generative AI has made manipulation of voting intent easier; there is also the worry of chaos created by fake results. As soon as it's constituted, the new parliamentary committee on communications and IT should focus on securing future elections in India.

On its 77th birthday, Pakistan is facing a polycrisis that can be traced to its civil-military dissonance, foreign policy misadventures and geopolitical approaches. Can it emerge from the morass?

THE OTHER CHILD OF MIDNIGHT STRIVES TO GROW

TC A RAGHAVAN

Former High Commissioner to Pakistan and author of The People Next Door: The Curious History of India-Pakistan Relations

INDEPENDENCE days are occasions for introspection. Pakistan's conflict- and turbulence-prone history means that August 14 stands out annually for reflections on the wrong turns and poor judgement calls of the past. This navel-gazing can extend over the whole month.

However, in many ways, August matches December as the nation's month for introspection, with the latter marked as the saddest on Pakistan's political calendar for suffering the greatest setback that can befall a nation—its break-up—in December 1971. December also stands out because it animates the national security challenge that Pakistan confronts. It was on December 27, 2007 that Benazir Bhutto was assassinated. On December 16, 2014, Pakistan witnessed its most horrific terrorist attack on a school in Peshawar. These ghosts remain largely unburied, as is evidenced by the daily threat posed by the Tehrik-i-Taliban Pakistan (TTP) and the persisting ambiguity surrounding the interface between Pakistan's state agencies and terrorist outfits.

Nevertheless, August has a special quality in Pakistan, just as it does in India, and therefore invokes a special kind of analysis.

The past 3-4 years have been exceptionally stressful for our neighbour. Major natural disasters, pronounced economic distress amid a near insolvency and debt default scenario, a national security crisis with mounting terrorist attacks and growing political protests in the insurgency-prone region of Baluchistan and the tribal areas—all these have regularly hit the headlines for the past few years.

This internal turmoil is matched by a nightmarish external environment with a marked deterioration in many principal relationships. Bad India-Pakistan relations are hardly new. But the long slump since 2016 and the further dip since 2019 mean that the relationship is in its longest ever downturn in its current phase—even including those associated with the 1965 and 1971 wars.

With Afghanistan, the triumphalism that originally accompanied the Taliban victory in August 2021 has dissipated quickly into the new reality of a broken relationship with the Taliban regime in Kabul and a resurgent TTP at home. With Iran, its many subterranean differences flared into an open conflict in January this year with drone and missile attacks in both directions; the divisions have been papered over, but the gulf remains—reflecting the suboptimal nature of Iran-Pakistan relations.

Relations with the US, too, have been stagnating at a low plateau since at least 2018. Other old and reliable partners such as Saudi Arabia and the Gulf sheikhdoms have rebalanced their position with respect to India-Pakistan issues and moved to more equidistant postures, which Pakistan views as a negative development. In all this, China remains a stable ally and invaluable external partner. Yet, for a country like Pakistan, on the whole this is a somewhat gloomy external situation.

MANDAR PARDIKAR

This combination of external and internal negativities is summarised as Pakistan's polycrisis. It's not as if any situation the nation confronts today is novel. What is unusual about the present conjuncture is how the different crisis elements—political, economic, security-related and external—are converging at the same time.

If this sense of crisis preoccupies many Pakistanis, much of the day-to-day discussion in the country gets focused on what has been a central feature for virtually its entire lifespan—the civil-military relations. What currently illustrates and animates the civil-military dissonance is that former Prime Minister Imran Khan is in jail—he completed a year behind bars earlier this August. That this has often been a full term in office for elected governments underlines the point that the Pakistan military has a propensity to meddle in the political process, and thereby imparts to it a fundamental fragility.

This month's events in Bangladesh have converged with introspection about Pakistan's crisis-prone underperformance syndrome. In the past few years, there has been much angst about Pakistan's trajectory, since comparisons with Bangladesh showed how glaring the contrasts had become. The juxtaposition is in many ways natural, given that the two were part of the same country till half a century ago.

In 1971, East Pakistan's population was larger than the western wing's. This demographic difference lay at the root of the political polarisation that ultimately broke up the country. Bangladesh has since successfully curbed its population growth, while Pakistan has not—it still has one of the highest population growth rates in the world. On a range of other economic and social indicators including per capita income, Bangladesh has outperformed Pakistan—for instance, its garments exports alone are greater than Pakistan's total exports.

So what explains Pakistan's predicaments? Some argue that at their root are questions of identity and how a state founded on the basis of religious denomination is insufficiently equipped to manage a range of challenges and diversities that Pakistan has been presented with before and after 1971.

In other perspectives, Pakistan's present and future developments are compromised by its geopolitical ambitions and insecurities. Its revisionist postures on Kashmir predisposes Pakistan to a conflict-prone and suboptimal relationship with India to its east. Given the difference in size and other asymmetries, this more or less condemns Pakistan to living in a state of insecurity vis-a-vis India. The pursuit of equally flawed policies of strategic depth vis-a-vis Afghanistan creates permanent insecurities and conflict on its western borders. In brief, Pakistan's structural problems can be traced back to its foreign policy and geopolitical approaches.

Yet others find the real trigger in the overbearing political role of its military, which has been a characteristic feature of Pakistan since the 1950s. French writer Voltaire's expression about 18th-century Germany—"where some states have an army, the Prussian Army has a state"—could also have been written for modern-day Pakistan. The Pakistan Army has imparted to government policies the tendency to adopt excessively securitised approaches to the problems confronting the country. In the process, each of these problems has been further accentuated and amplified.

On every independence day, many in Pakistan have posed the question whether the role of the military will get curbed in some manner in the future, enabling a more balanced civil-military equation to emerge. So far, these hopes have been belied.

THE INDIGNITY OF QUESTIONING FEMALE ATHLETES' FEMININITY

GOPI SHANKAR MADURAI

Advisor, Juvenile Justice Committee, Madras High Court, and co-founder, Intersex Asia, Taiwan

AT the Paris Olympics, boxers Imane Khelif of Algeria and Lin Yu-ting of Taiwan were subject to questions about their sex identity. Speculative accusations were made against these female athletes with intersex traits of being male and transgender. What's galling is people in powerful positions have often spread such misinformation and disrupted the lives of many female athletes.

Pratima Gaonkar, a young female athlete with intersex traits, ended her life in October 2001 after being questioned to prove her biological sex identity through a so-called 'sex determination test'.

This started in the 1940s. For a long time, female athletes with genetic differences were targeted with 'sex verification tests'. There is limited data available on male athletes' chromosomal or hormonal profiles. However, a study conducted on over 600 elite athletes in 2014 revealed that 16.5 percent of male athletes had low testosterone levels, while 13.7 percent of female athletes exhibited high testosterone levels. It is estimated that nearly 2 percent of male competitors had testosterone levels within the typical female range.

But it's female athletes with intersex traits who are often misbranded as transgender. For instance, G Nagalakshmi, a former national-level competitor with intersex traits, was selected for a post in the Tamil Nadu police. However, the state police disputed her sex identity, which was ignorantly misrepresented as transsexual by the media, medical practitioners and the judiciary. There are over 20 south Indian female athletes with intersex traits who lost track of their lives and careers because of misinformation and ignorance.

It's pertinent to understand that sex and gender identities are separate, and cannot be used interchangeably. Sex identity is related to a person's biological sex, whereas gender identity is related to the social and psychological construct of a person. Being intersex is a sex characteristic, and not to do with gender. Intersex people are born with sexual anatomy that does not fit the typical definitions of female or male. There are over 40 intersex variations.

The governments of India and many other nations still lack data on intersex populations. In India, they are not counted separately in the census. One major reason is most governments do not even recognise intersex as a separate sex identity. On a recent petition in the Supreme Court, Gopi Shankar M vs Union of India, a three-judge bench led by the Chief Justice sought responses from eight Union ministries on making provisions for recording births and deaths of intersex people, and including them in the census. After a prolonged delay, the case has been listed for September 2.

There are more than 30 elite athletes, including Michael Phelps, Usain Bolt and Rafael Nadal, who have genetic differences. While their natural physical advantages are celebrated, female athletes with similar differences are punished.

AFP

Many top male athletes including Usain Bolt and Rafael Nadal display atypical sex characteristics. But it's only female athletes with intersex traits like Imane Khelif who are penalised. Many like Santhi Soundarajan were driven to despair by such malicious misinformation

In 2006, Santhi Soundarajan, a remarkable athlete, was compelled to undergo a sex verification test after winning a silver medal for India at the Asian Games in Doha. It led her to despair and attempt suicide. She later said, "Don't do this to female athletes… My life is completely shattered because of wrong judgements of Indian and international sports bodies. Your decision doesn't just affect us on the track but also derails everything in the world outside of it."

In 2014, Indian sprinter Dutee Chand was barred from competing in the Commonwealth Games on questions on her sex identity. The Indian government sponsored her case to challenge the hyperandrogenism regulations at the Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS). In a historic verdict, CAS suspended the International Association of Athletics Federations' hyperandrogenism gender test rules for two years and termed it "unscientific". Due to this, the 2016 Rio Olympics was conducted without sex verification tests.

Even the UN Human Rights Council adopted a resolution to protect the rights of intersex people when 24 countries voted in favour and 23 abstained; none voted against the resolution. The UNHRC said in a fact sheet that 1.7 percent of the world's population is intersex.

The need of the hour is to put on a decolonising lens and erase the prejudicial differences among the diverse sex and gender identities, and adopt from Indic values that fostered an inclusive environment for people of diverse characteristics.

Female athletes with intersex traits are ostracised in society. Grave human rights violation, non-acceptance and non-recognition often compel such athletes to end their lives; many other voices remain unheard.

Intersex variations can be picked up at any time. They are not always obvious from birth. There is no one intersex experience. Some females with intersex traits can reproduce. It is the genetic factor and determination of female athletes with intersex traits that play a vital role in establishing their sex identity. National and international sports bodies need to understand the science behind it. Female athletes with intersex traits cannot be put into a third classification in sports, as it would increase the chances of leaving athletes with disorders of sexual development.

This debate seems never-ending. The best way forward is to remove the physiological differences between the sexes. Athletes with intersex traits born and raised as female cannot be compelled to compete in a separate category. The government and sports bodies must sensitise the masses and tailor their regulations to protect them.

Sports superpower

Ref: Olympic let-down: Must win more medals before hosting games (Aug 13). I fully endorse the editorial's views. A country with a population like ours should have been able to produce quite a few Olympians over the years. The sorry state of our medal count should be an eye-opener for taking up the challenge head-on, so that the dream of becoming a sports superpower would not remain a remote one for India.

Before 2036

The editorial rightly pointed out what went wrong in our bid to win more medals. The toppers alone get more attention while the juniors are neglected. All sports should be patronised from grassroots levels, not just cricket. Only then can we dream of hoisting the Olympic flag in 2036.

BJP preps for party chief polls, key meet on Aug 17

Talks may centre on potential candidates, party's stand for state polls

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

THE BJP has begun preparations for the election of the party's national president by scheduling a crucial meeting of its office-bearers, including presidents of all state units, on August 17.

The office-bearers are expected to finalise the launch of the party's membership drive ahead of the election of a new party president. Sources said the party's state and national general secretaries will also attend the meeting and deliberate upon the organisational issues. The meeting is also expected to play a pivotal role in fine-tuning the election strategy. The meeting is anticipated to address key organisational matters and set the stage for selecting a leader who will guide the party through challenges.

A buzz is going on about the BJP considering to appoint a 'Karyakari-adhyaksha' (working president) prior to the appointment of a full-fledged president, who is, as per the party constitution, elected after completion of the nationwide membership drive, which is set to be kicked off this month.

The tenure of the incumbent BJP president JP Nadda expired on July 29 and he has been made Union minister in the government. Sources hinted that the July 17 meeting is also important because the party has geared up for assembly elections in four states, including a UT, this year.

Sources also hinted that the appointment of a new BJP chief is expected to be the focal point of the meeting, with discussions likely centered on potential candidates and the direction the party wants to take in the run-up to the state polls.

At a recent meeting at the residence of defence minister Rajnath Singh, party's senior leaders along with a senior RSS functionary, reportedly brainstormed over the upcoming assembly polls, and also on the party president election.

"At this meeting at Singh's residence, a discussion followed on the Bangladesh unrest in which Hindus became the target. The BJP can take up the 'silence' of Opposition parties, including Congress, on atrocities against Bangladesh Hindus before the people in the assembly polls in four states", said a senior functionary.

Names of several probable candidates have been doing the rounds to succeed Nadda. "Prominent among them are Maharashtra deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis, Union minister Bhupendra Yadav, Dr Sudha Yadav (woman and OBC), Dr K Laxman (OBC Morcha national president and member of party's central committee), Arun Singh (general secretary & RS MP) and Vinod Tawde (another general secretary and in-charge of Bihar unit)," said a source.

A party section also believes that a consensus may emerge on electing a woman either from the SC or OBC category as the national president in line with PM Modi's special focus on women's empowerment.

Contempt case against Patanjali closed

SUCHITRA K MOHANTY @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday closed the contempt proceedings initiated against Baba Ramdev and his associate and Patanjali Ayurved managing director Balkrishna in the misleading advertisements case.

A two-judge bench of Justice Hima Kohli and Justice Sandeep Mehta passed the order after Ramdev and Balkrishna gave undertakings to stop issuing misleading ads regarding Patanjali products.

While the apex court closed the matter, it cautioned them to strictly abide by the terms of their undertakings.

"Any future intransigence on their part, whether by act, deed or speech that could tantamount to violating the orders of the court or dishonouring the terms of the undertakings, shall be viewed strictly and the ensuing consequences could indeed be grave," the bench said. "In that eventuality, the sword of contempt that has now been returned to rest in its sheath, shall be flourished as swiftly as these proceedings were originally initiated," it said.

The top court was hearing a petition filed by the Indian Medical Association against Patanjali Ayurved's advertisements, which claimed to cure certain diseases, including blood pressure, diabetes and asthma. "It is completely wrong to advertise on such kind of diseases and to cure such diseases," the IMA said.

Patanjali Ayurved, Ramdev and Balkrishna had assured the top court that they would not violate any law in future, especially those related to advertising or branding of products manufactured and marketed by the company.

The apex court, in its earlier order, had restrained a temporary ban, including print and TV, on Patanjali medicine ads. Relying on Drugs and Magic Remedies (Objectionable Advertisements) Act 1954, the order restrained Patanjali Ayurved from advertising its products relating to diseases or disorders.

In its November 21, 2023 order passed in the matter, the top court had noted that the counsel representing Patanjali Ayurved had assured it that "henceforth there shall not be any violation of any law(s), especially relating to advertising or branding of products manufactured and marketed by it and, further, that no casual statements claiming medicinal efficacy or against any system of medicine will be released."

The alleged non-adherence to the specific assurance and subsequent media statements by the firm had irked the court, which issued a notice to them to show cause why contempt proceedings should not be initiated against them.

Bail is rule, jail an exception: SC in UAPA case

SUCHITRA K MOHANTY @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday held that "bail is the rule, jail is the exception" principle is applicable even to offences under special statutes like the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act.

While granting bail to Jalaluddin Khan, accused under the stringent anti-terror law, the two-judge bench of Justice Abhay S Oka and Justice Augustine George Masih said, "If courts start denying bail in deserving cases, it will be a violation of fundamental rights."

An NIA court had rejected the bail plea of Khan, who was allegedly involved in plans to disrupt the Prime Minister's visit to Bihar and unlawful activities connected to the banned Popular Front of India. He then filed an appeal in Patna High Court, which was also rejected, forcing him to move the SC.

"Allegations of the prosecution may be very serious, but it is court's duty to consider the case for bail in accordance with law. Bail is the rule and jail is the exception applies even to special statutes," the SC said.

Yunus goes to Dhakeshwari temple amid attacks on Hindus in Bangla

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

A draft has been prepared by the interim government in Bangladesh to scrap August 15 as national holiday. Sheikh Mujibur Rahman was assassinated on this day 49 years ago, and since then, the day has been observed as a holiday, as a day of mourning.

Extra forces of police and paramilitary will be deployed across Bangladesh to maintain law and order on the day.

"There have been reports that members of the Awami League members will pay their tributes to a portrait of Bangabandhu on this day and right wing political parties want this scrapped. Meanwhile, the police uniforms (which was designed by the earlier regime) are likely to be changed as it has a logo of a boat that also happens to be an election symbol of the Awami League," Professor Nazmul Ahsan Kalimullah, a political commentator from Dhaka said.

A 10-member committee was set up on Monday to work on designing the new uniform and logo and has been asked to submit a report within one week.

Besides, the India Visa Application Center (IVAC) in Dhaka has resumed limited operations. "Messages will be sent to individual applicants regarding collection of passports," according to an IVAC notice.

Bangladesh's chief advisor Muhammad Yunus visits Dhakeshwari temple | PTI

The Interim government's chief advisor, Professor Muhammad Yunus on Tuesday went to Dhakeshwari National Temple (the largest Hindu temple in Bangladesh) in Dhaka.

Professor Yunus sought cooperation from all and called upon the country and its people to exercise patience. He also said that rights were equal for all.

The US has categorically denied any involvement in Sheikh Hasina government's toppling.

"We have had no involvement at all. Any reports or rumours that the United States government was involved in these events is simply false," White House spokesperson Karine Jean-Pierre said on Monday.

Meanwhile, hours after the interim government's decision, ousted PM Sheikh Hasina urged the people to observe the day as a public holiday. "I appeal to you to observe the National Day of Mourning on August 15 with due dignity and solemnity," Hasina said in a statement, released on her son's X handle.

Jagdambika Pal to head JPC on Waqf Bill

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

DAYS after the government set up a 31-member Joint Parliamentary Committee (JPC) to examine the contentious Waqf (Amendment) Bill 2024, officials said that the panel will be headed by senior BJP Lok Sabha member Jagdambika Pal.

The joint panel has 31 members — 21 from Lok Sabha and 10 from Rajya Sabha — and will submit its report by the next session. A formal notification naming Pal as the chairperson of the joint committee is set to be issued shortly, officials said. Pal had resigned from the Congress in 2014 to join BJP.

The Bill, which proposes sweeping changes in the Waqf Act 1995, faced stiff opposition from the INDIA bloc parties, after it was introduced in the Lok Sabha. Subsequently, the government referred the bill to the JPC for further scrutiny.

From giving Centre the power to frame rules to providing representation for women to the inclusion of two non-Muslim members in Waqf boards and a separate Board of Auqaf for Boharas and Aghakhanis, 44 amendments to the Waqf Act 1995 were proposed.

Cong seeks SEBI chief's resignation, to launch nationwide stir on Aug 22

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

THE Congress on Tuesday announced a nationwide agitation on August 22 demanding the resignation of SEBI chief Madhabi Puri Buch and a Joint Parliamentary Committee probe into the Adani money siphoning scandal.

The announcement was made after Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge held a meeting with all general secretaries, state unit chiefs and AICC state in-charges in the capital.

Briefing reporters after the meeting, Congress general secretary (organisation) KC Venugopal said that on August 22, Congress workers will hold demonstrations in front of the offices of the Enforcement Directorate.

"The shocking revelations of a nexus between the SEBI and Adani need a thorough investigation. The money of small investors in the stock market cannot be jeopardised," Kharge too said in an X post.

Last week, Hindenburg Research alleged that SEBI chairperson Madhabi Puri Buch and her husband Dhaval Buch had stakes in obscure offshore funds used in the alleged Adani money siphoning scandal.

The allegations have triggered a political slugfest with the INDIA bloc parties demanding her removal and the BJP accusing the Opposition of a conspiracy to create financial instability and chaos in India.

On Monday, the Congress urged that the Supreme Court should transfer the Adani probe to the CBI or a Special Investigation Team, given the "likelihood of SEBI's compromise".

Congress general secretary in-charge of communications, Jairam Ramesh, said that SEBI, in its statement on the ongoing investigations into Adani Group's financial transactions, has sought to project an image of hyperactivity, stating that it has issued 100 summons, 1,100 letters and emails, and examined 300 documents containing 12,000 pages.

Ramesh pointed out that on March 3, 2023, the SC directed SEBI to "expeditiously conclude the probe" into allegations of stock manipulation and accounting fraud against the Group, within two months.

Now, 18 months later, SEBI has revealed that a critical investigation, likely regarding whether Adani violated Rule 19A relating to minimum public shareholding, remains incomplete, Ramesh said.

Buch and her husband have dismissed the charges as baseless and alleged that Hindenburg Research was attacking SEBI's credibility and attempting a character assassination of its chief instead of replying to a showcause notice served to it for "violations in India".

The SEBI said the allegations against the Adani Group had been "duly investigated" and its chairperson "also recused herself in matters involving potential conflicts of interest" from time to time.

The Adani Group termed the allegations malicious and based on manipulation of select public information. The company said it had no commercial relationship with the SEBI chairperson or husband.

IAF aims high, plans to make int'l air exercise Tarang Shakti regular feature

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

INDIA'S first multinational air combat exercise 'Tarang Shakti' will now be a regular affair, said Indian Air Force chief Air Chief Marshal VR Chaudhari on Tuesday after the successful culmination of the first phase at Sulur in Tamil Nadu.

The IAF invited 51 air forces from across the globe, including 10 with fighter jets. In the first phase of the exercise, the air forces of Germany, France, Spain and the UK participated with their fighter aircraft.

Speaking to media, the IAF chief said, "We will definitely take up the case of having this exercise once in every alternate year. We will take a call later on how many nations we can accommodate."

The IAF will collate inputs from the debriefings of the exercise, the IAF chief said, after the second phase of the exercise, which is due at Jodhpur in Rajasthan from August 29.

"Then it will be decided how many countries will be invited for the air drill," Chaudhari said, adding that however, "this is definitely not going to be the last one."

The Chief of Air Staff was accompanied by his counterparts from France, Germany and Spain.

The IAF chief along with his Spanish counterpart Air Gen Francisco Braco Carbo flew sorties in Russian-origin Sukhoi fighter. Gen Stephane Mille and Lt Gen Ingo Gerhartz took sorties in the light combat aircraft Tejas, manufactured by Hindustan Aeronautics Limited.

The IAF chief also announced that indigenously manufactured single-engine multi-role LCA Tejas will be participating more in national and international exercises. "We will use the aircraft more in air combat drills both within and outside the country," ACM Chaudhari said.

Stating that the indigenous fighter has proved its mettle in Tarang Shakti, he said Tejas was the epitome of India's success in self-reliance.

GAURAV is an air-launched 1,000 kg class glide bomb capable of hitting targets at a long distance.

'Don't hurt sentiments at Partition horrors expo'

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

NO sentiments should be hurt by any act during the exhibition on 'Partition Horrors Remembrance Day', as it is a sensitive topic, the culture ministry has cautioned. The exhibition will be conducted across the states on August 14.

"It is organised to remember the tragedy and agony of the partition, so the sensitivity of this exhibition should be kept in mind. It should also be ensured that no section of society gets hurt by any act during the exhibition," the Standard Operating Procedure (SoP) issued by the ministry stated.

To commemorate the sufferings of people affected due to the division of the country in 1947, the ministry has planned a series of activities on August 14 including the exposition. The exhibition — a digital show comprising 52 slides with photos — is jointly curated by the Indian Council of Historical Research and Indira Gandhi National Centre for Arts.

The culture ministry recently wrote to other ministries, government departments, educational institutions and other bodies requesting them to put up the exhibition at prominent places for wider outreach. However, it urged them to be sensitive and organise the event as a solemn affair.

"Realising the sensitivity of the issue, it should be ensured that the exhibition is showcased with sobriety and solemnness that it deserves, it should be especially ensured that the sentiments of any section of society are not to be hurt," the letter sent to a ministry read.

The culture ministry has also instructed that people who have suffered the tragedy should be invited to the event and freedom fighters, prominent senior citizens or public representatives be requested to inaugurate the exhibition.

As part of a tribute to all those who lost their lives due to the partition of the nation or were displaced, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, in 2021, announced to observe August 14 every year as the day to commemorate their sacrifice, the 'Partition Horrors Remembrance Day'. Since then, the culture ministry has been holding a series of events on the occasion.

"Exhibition is to be held at prominent places, which have more footfalls like railway stations, post offices, shopping malls and government offices. The Partition Horrors Remembrance Day has been envisaged to bring to light the agony, sufferings and pain of millions of victims. The idea is to tell people what was the background of the partition; stories of people who were displaced and how the British divided the country. We have selected the photos with sensitivity. The exhibition does not have any disturbing images so that there is no animosity among people," said officials.

The instructions issued by the culture ministry further said that enough efforts should be made so that people in large numbers visit the exhibition.

The event was part of the campaign of the culture ministry being held ahead of the Independence Day celebrations.

More doctors across the country shun work for 2nd consecutive day protesting rape-murder of PG student inside a Kolkata hosp

Stir against Bengal horror grips India

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

GOVERNMENT hospitals, including all the AIIMS, saw OPD (outpatient department) and other elective services shut down as junior and resident doctors refused to return to work for the second consecutive day to protest the brutal rape and murder of a postgraduate woman trainee doctor on duty in a government hospital in West Bengal.

The indefinite strike call given by various resident doctors' associations, demanding action in the brutal incident, a safe working environment for doctors, and a separate Central law prohibiting violence against healthcare workers, led to innumerable difficulties for patients, especially poor people, who throng these government hospitals from far and wide.

As more and more doctors, including MBBS students, across the country joined the protests and shut work, a delegation of the Indian Medical Association (IMA), which has approximately 3.5 lakh member doctors in 1,700 active local branches in 29 states and Union Territories in India, met Union Health Minister JP Nadda.

In a late-night development, after meeting with Nadda, the Federation of Resident Doctors' Association (FORDA), which was the first to call for an indefinite strike, announced that they have called off their strike in public interest.

The Union Health Ministry also posted on X that the minister met with the FORDA delegation. "He welcomed their decision to call off the strike in the public interest and assured them that the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare will address all their concerns to ensure a safer and better work environment."

However, FAIMA chairman Dr Rohan Krishnan said they will continue with the strike. Speaking to this newspaper, he said, "Resident Doctors' Associations (RDA) of more than 65 medical colleges are with us and want us to continue the strike, as our demands are yet to be accepted. We want the Central Protection Act for healthcare workers. AIIMS RDA and all national institutions, VMMC, and all states will be shut down on Wednesday."

Dr Krishnan said that except for Lady Hardinge Medical College and Maulana Azad Medical College, the rest of the RDAs will join the strike on Wednesday, which will continue till their demands are met.

IMA national president Dr RV Asokan, who had also met Nadda earlier in the day, said that they would support resident doctors in their protest.

He said they have raised five issues with the health minister. "We want the government to declare hospitals across the country as safe zones; a Central law prohibiting violence against healthcare professionals; National Medical Commission (NMC) to bring in security stipulations for recognition of medical colleges; a CBI probe into the West Bengal incident, and better working conditions and accommodation for resident doctors."

He said while the CBI probe has been announced by the Calcutta High Court, the NMC, which regulates medical education, issued a public notice soon after their meeting that all medical colleges and institutions should ensure a safe workplace environment within the college and hospital campus for all the staff members, including faculty, medical students and resident doctors.

"The policy should ensure adequate safety measures in OPD, wards, casualty, hostels, and other open areas on campus and in residential quarters. Corridors and campus should be well lit in the evening so that staff can walk safely... and CCTV will cover all sensitive areas for monitoring," said the NMC notice. It said that adequate security staff should be available in the premises. "The college management should promptly investigate any violence and an FIR should be lodged with the police," it said.

However, this failed to placate the agitating doctors.

MBBS students, too, join protest across India

More doctors, including MBBS students, from across the country joined the protests and stayed away from work. Meanwhile, a delegation of the Indian Medical Association met Health Minister JP Nadda and raised issues such as declare hospitals as safe zones, a central law prohibiting violence against healthcare professionals, NMC to bring in security stipulations for recognition of medical colleges.

Draft bill for protection of healthcare workers awaiting Centre's nod

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

EVEN as doctors are demanding a central law to protect healthcare workers following the rape and murder of a trainee doctor in a Kolkata hospital, the Centre has denied the need for such a legislation. In fact, the draft bill for the protection of healthcare workers has been pending with the government for the past five years.

According to Dr KV Babu, who had filed an RTI plea in this regard, said the Centre has clarified both in parliament and outside that they are not pursuing the draft legislation.

The draft of the Healthcare Services Personnel and Clinical Establishments (Prohibition of Violence and Damage to Property) Bill, 2019 was prepared and circulated for consultations. However, former health minister Mansukh Mandaviya had said in Rajya Sabha last year that "...it was decided not to enact a separate legislation for prohibiting violence against doctors and other health care professionals." He had said the matter was discussed with relevant ministries and stakeholders, and the Epidemic Diseases (Amendment) Ordinance, 2020 was promulgated on April 22, 2020.

A delegation of the Indian Medical Association (IMA) met Union Health Minister JP Nadda on Tuesday. IMA national president Dr RV Asokan said they have raised the issue of a central law for protection of healthcare professionals with Nadda.

"He has told us that he will study the issue and will come back to us," Asokan said. "Now, 60-70 per cent of doctors are women. They are taking over from men. Their security is of utmost importance," he said.

Speaking about the central law, Kerala-based Dr Babu said, "As per the RTI reply I received in September 2022 from the Union health ministry, they clarified that the government is not keen on pursuing the draft legislation." He said, "It is very disappointing that the government is still not enacting a central law... I hope the government listens."

Health Minister JP Nadda told us he will study the issue and will get back. Around 60-70% of doctors are women. Their security is important

Mahayuti prepares for election strategy

In Maharashtra, the ruling Mahayuti is working on three major formulas to retain power in the state assembly elections. The buzz is, Raj Thackeray's MNS and Prakash Ambedkar's VBA would be asked to fight separately to ensure splitting of anti-incumbency voters. The second is DCM Ajit Pawar may be asked to tie up with Prakash Ambedkar so that both can cater to the MVA vote base. The third formula is to make some arrangement with Maratha quota leader Manoj Jarange Patil by asking him to field Maratha candidates in all seats so that MVA doesn't benefit the way it was in Lok Sabha elections.

Fadnavis gets power to take poll decisions

After a crushing defeat in the LS polls, the BJP parliamentary meeting pushed for collective decisions instead of a single leader's dominance over any ruling of the party such as selecting candidates and allotting the ticket for the upcoming Maharashtra state assembly polls. However, deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis has proved again that irrespective of BJP's abysmal performance in state, he is the centre figure of the party here. As a result, the state parliamentary board has given him the power to take decisions in this poll, which ended speculation of his elevations in Delhi.

New entrant joins to influence Maha politics

Crossing the threshhold of Maharashtra politics, one such Guru, who is known as a spiritual and religious saint, is playing a major role in connecting the state ruling party leaders to the top Delhi leadership and influencing their decisions. The ministers in the incumbent government are desperate to please this Guru; three prime location plots worth crores have been given at throwaway prices without following prescribed procedure for him. Each minister attempts to keep this Guru in good humour so that they can not only retain the current position but also get them some coveted posts if a change of guard occurs in the future after the polls.

ASSEMBLY POLLS

In a first, Sikhs to contest 8-12 seats in J&K

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

IN a first, the Sikh community will field candidates in at least eight Assembly seats in the forthcoming Assembly polls in J&K Union Territory.

All-Parties Sikh Coordination Committee (APSCC) chairman Jagmohan Singh Raina said his organization was disappointed with all mainstream parties, such as the NC, Congress, PDP and BJP. "Despite the support of the Sikhs, none of the parties worked for the betterment of the community and used it for vote bank politics," said Raina.

"We will be fielding candidates in 8-12 Assembly seats, including four in Kashmir and 8 in the Jammu region, where the Sikh community has better chances of winning with the support of other communities," he said.

The APSCC is considering contesting from Pulwama, Baramulla and Amira Kadal. "These areas have a significant Sikh population. With the support of the majority, our candidates can sail through," said Raina.

Gunfight in forest area of tourist spot Patnitop, Army ops in Kokernag continue

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

A gunfight erupted between militants and security forces in the Akar forest area of tourist spot Patnitop in Jammu's Udhampur district on Tuesday.

According to a defence spokesman, the Army and police launched a joint operation in the area based on specific intelligence inputs about the presence of militants.

He said a contact has been established with the terrorists. "The exchange of fire is going on." Additional troops have been rushed to the area to tighten the siege and prevent militants from escaping into dense forest.

Meanwhile, the search operation launched by the troops in the dense forest of Kokernag in Anantnag district to track down a group of militants involved in the recent encounter in which two soldiers and a civilian were killed, continued for the fourth day. Drones and other surveillance equipment are being used to pinpoint the movement of militants hiding in the forest. "The troops are also using sniffer dogs to locate the militants," the official said.

Inspector-General of Police in Kashmir, VK Birdi, said security forces are moving in vigilantly in the dense forest. "There has been no fresh contact with the hiding militants," he said.

According to Birdi, three to four Pakistani militants are hiding in the forest.

On Saturday evening, the militants exchanged fire with security forces in the forests of Ahlan Gadole area of Kokernag. Two soldiers and a civilian were killed. Another soldier and civilian sustained injuries and are undergoing treatment.

Birdi said it is being probed what the two civilians were doing at the encounter site.

According to Army, militants involved in Kokernag encounter are the same group involved in encounters in the mountainous Doda district of Jammu region, in which four soldiers, including an officer, were killed.

Surgical strikes a strong blow to terrorism, Naxalism: Shah

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah said on Tuesday that while India has long endured the scourge of terrorism and left-wing extremism, Prime Minister Narendra Modi has delivered a strong response by launching surgical and air strikes that have left the enemy rattled.

Flagging off the BJP's 'Tiranga Yatra' in Ahmedabad two days ahead of Independence Day, Shah called upon the youth to come forward and strive to make India a developed nation by 2047 As part of the 'Har Ghar Tiranga' campaign, the Gujarat government organized the 'Tiranga Yatra' in four cities across the state ahead of Independence Day.

On Tuesday, a 3km-long Yatra took place in Ahmedabad, stretching from Viratnagar to Nikol Khodiar Mandir in the eastern part of the city. The event was inaugurated in the evening by Shah and Gujarat CM Bhupendra Patel.

"In the last 10 years, under the leadership of PM Modi, India has accomplished remarkable feats across various fields, leaving the world astonished. From planting the Tricolor on the South Pole of the moon, where no human has ever reached, to delivering a strong response to terrorism and Naxalism with surgical and air strikes that have left our enemies on edge, India's achievements are unparalleled."

Reflecting on the government efforts during the pandemic, Shah said, "Modi safeguarded India from the threat of Covid-19 by leveraging technology and ensuring that 130 crore citizens were vaccinated twice. Under Modi's leadership, we also saw global leaders at the G20 pay tribute to the Father of the Nation at Mahatma Gandhi's mausoleum, all on the same day, at the same time, a fitting honour to his legacy."

On the Tiranga Yatra, Shah said, "This energizes our youth, as we prepare to mark 78 years of independence on August 15. There should not be a single place in Gujarat where the Tricolor is not proudly hoisted. This yatra has been launched to create a patriotic atmosphere across the state."

After Gadkari tough talk on road projects, Mann blames NHAI officials

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE ties between the AAP-led Punjab government and the Centre are set to hit a new low with CM Bhagwant Mann on Tuesday shooting off a letter to Union Transport Minister Nitin Gadkari following latter's warning that the Centre would terminate eight highway projects in the face of alleged attacks on engineers and contractors in the state.

Mann has blamed the National Highway Authority of India over land acquisition. On the alleged threats to NHAI officials and contractors, he said that cases were registered. However, during investigation it came to light that one case was linked to over-excavation of land and the other was a case of non-payment by the concessionaire to its sub-contractor, the CM said.

Mann's letter was in reply to Gadkari's missive about NHAI projects. Mann responded by saying the state government was supporting NHAI in land acquisition and other matters. "This is the reason that barring a few exceptions, most of the NHAI projects in the state are on track," said the CM.

"In both cases referred to by you, the local police promptly registered FIRs. In both cases, arrests have been made," Mann wrote.

On the land acquisition, Mann's letter read: "Land prices in Punjab are on the higher side. Our farmers are reluctant to part with their lands if they feel that the compensation is not adequate."

Gadkari wrote to Mann last week asking him to take immediate measures against those responsible for the attacks of NHAI officials and contractors, saying that the 293 km of highways would be scrapped if the law and order situation did not improve.

CRIME AGAINST WOMEN

Suspecting extra-marital ties, Bihar man kills family, himself

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

A 35-year-old man killed his constable wife, two kids and his mother before killing himself by suicide in Bihar's Bhagalpur district, police said on Tuesday. Extra-marital affair of the deceased's wife with a male constable is stated to be the reason behind the incident.

The incident took place in a government quarter located in the Bhagalpur police lines on intervening night of Monday and Tuesday. It came to light on Tuesday morning when a milkman knocked the door but upon finding it unresponsive informed the police.

The police entered the room by breaking open the door only to find five bodies, four of them on the bed and one hanging from the ceiling fan in a room. Blood was oozing out from four bodies as throats of the victims were slit with a sharp-edged weapon. The bodies were sent to the sadar hospital for post-mortem. Forensic experts collected evidence from the spot.

Deputy inspector general (DIG), Bhagalpur, Vivekanand said, "A suicide note was found in the room in which husband accused his wife of killing their two kids and her mother in-law. He attacked his wife with a hard blunt substance and killed her." "It seems that Pankaj accused his wife of killing their kids and his mother as he didn't want to own up to the murder," an investigating officer said.

The woman constable Neetu Kumar was posted at in Bhagalpur. Neighbours said the fight between the couple had become a routine affair.

Yunus reaches out to Hindus, cites institutional decay for the violence

Community attacked in 278 locations; interim govt sets up hotline

Bangladesh Chief Adviser Muhammad Yunus interacts with Hindus at the Dhakeshwari Temple in Dhaka on Tuesday | PTI

DHAKA

REACHING out to the distressed Hindu community members at the famous Dhakeshwari Temple here, Bangladesh Chief Adviser Muhammad Yunus on Tuesday urged the people to 'exercise patience' before judging his government's role.

Amid the ongoing violence and vandalism against Hindus, Yunus said each one's rights should be ensured and blamed "institutional decay" for the predicament that his country has fallen into.

Hindus businesses and properties and their temples have been under attack since Sheikh Hasina fled to India on Aug 5.

Dhakeshwari temple is one of the prominent Shakti peethas. The apex body of Hindus in Bangladesh on Tuesday said the minority Hindu community faced attacks and threats in 278 locations across 48 districts since the fall of the Sheikh Hasina on August 5 and termed it as an 'assault on the Hindu religion.'

The Bangladesh National Hindu Grand Alliance members also pointed to the increase in attacks in recent times and asserted, "We too have rights in this country, we were born here."

"Rights are equal for everyone. We are all one people with one right. Do not make any distinctions among us. Please, assist us. Exercise patience, and later judge – what we were able to do and not. If we fail, then criticise us," Yunus was quoted as saying by The Daily Star newspaper.

Meanwhile the interim government has set up a hotline asking people to provide information about attacks on Hindu temples, churches or any other religious institutions.

The Ministry of Religious Affairs has requested to provide information about attacks on religious institutions, Bengali language daily Prothom Alo reported on Tuesday.

"If a temple, church, pagoda or any other religious institution is attacked or attacked by miscreants, it is requested to report its information by calling this mobile number 01766-843809 or by sending a small message," the paper reported, citing a notification issued by the ministry on Monday.

Sheikh Hasina, others booked for murder during riots

DHAKA: BANGLADESH's deposed prime minister Sheikh Hasina and six others, including two senior ministers of her cabinet and sacked police chief, would face trial for murder, court officials said on Tuesday. The murder case filed against 76-year-old Hasina is the first so far against her since she resigned and fled to India on August 5. She and six others face charges over the death of a grocery shop owner during last month's violent clashes that led to the fall of her government. "In line with a case filed by a resident of (Dhaka's) Mohammadpur area, Metropolitan Magistrate Rajesh Chowdhury has asked police to register it as an FIR," a court official said. In a late night statement on Tuesday, Sheikh Hasina demanded "justice", saying those involved in recent "terror acts", killings and vandalism must be investigated, identified and punished. In her first public statement since her ouster, Hasina said several lives have been lost in violence in the name of agitation since July. "I express grief at the deaths of students, teachers, police personnel, pregnant women, journalists, cultural activists, working people, leaders and workers of the Awami League and its allied organisations, pedestrians and employees of several establishments," Hasina said in a statement in Bengali posted by her US-based son Sajeeb Wazed on X. Iran brushes aside calls to refrain from attacking Israel

TEHRAN

IRAN on Tuesday rejected Western calls to stand down its threat to retaliate against Israel for the killing of Hamas political leader Ismail Haniyeh in Tehran late last month.

The Islamic republic and its allies have blamed Israel for Haniyeh's killing on July 31 during a visit to the Iranian capital for the swearing-in of President Masoud Pezeshkian. Israel has not commented.

Iran has vowed to avenge the death, which came hours after an Israeli strike in Beirut killed a senior commander of Hezbollah, the powerful Iran-backed militant group in Lebanon.

Western diplomats have scrambled to prevent a major conflagration in the Middle East, where tensions are already high due to the Israel-Hamas war in Gaza.

In a statement on Monday, the US and its European allies urged Iran to de-escalate.

The White House warned that a "significant set of attacks" by Iran and its allies was possible as soon as this week, saying Israel shared the same assessment. The United States has deployed an aircraft carrier strike group and a guided missile submarine to the region in support of Israel.

Iran's foreign ministry spokesman Nasser Kanani criticised the Western call for restraint. "The declaration by France, Germany and Britain, which raised no objection to the international crimes of the Zionist regime, brazenly asks Iran to take no deterrent action against a regime which has violated its sovereignty and territorial integrity," he said.

The US and its European allies also called for a ceasefire between Israel and Hamas in Gaza, with difficult talks set for Thursday on halting the conflict. International mediators have invited Israel and Hamas to resume negotiations this week on a ceasefire and hostage release deal, an invitation Israel has accepted.

Hamas has urged mediators to implement a truce plan earlier presented by US President Joe Biden instead of holding more talks. Far-right parties in Israel strongly oppose any ceasefire in Gaza. AFP

Baby survives Israeli attack that killed 10

An Israeli strike killed 10 members of a Gaza family in the territory's southern district of Khan Younis on Tuesday, leaving only one survivor – a three-month-old girl, a medic said. "Ten members of the Abu Haya family were killed in an Israeli strike on Abassan in east Khan Yunis," the medic said. The girl stirred strong emotion in Nasser Hospital, AFP

Houthis take over UN office by force in Yemen capital

GENEVA

THE United Nations said on Tuesday their human rights offices in Sanaa had been stormed by Yemen's Houthi rebels, with the UN's rights chief demanding they leave immediately and return all seized assets.

On August 3, the Iran-backed Houthi sent a delegation to the UN Human Rights Office's premises in Sanaa and forced staff to hand over the keys. They are still in control of the premises, the Geneva-based office said.

"Entering a UN office without permission and seizing documents and property by force are wholly inconsistent with the privileges and immunities of the United Nations," UN rights chief Volker Turk said in a statement.

"This is also a serious attack on the ability of the UN to perform its mandate, including with respect to the promotion and protection of human rights, which my office is there to defend.

"Ansar Allah forces must leave the premises and return all assets and belongings immediately."

The Houthis are engaged in a long-running civil war that has triggered one of the world's worst humanitarian crises. More than half of the population is dependent on aid.

The rebels seized control of the capital Sanaa in September 2014, prompting a Saudi-led military intervention on behalf of the government the following March.

Kamala more incompetent than her boss Biden, Trump tells Elon Musk

WASHINGTON

Donald Trump and Kamala Harris

DONALD Trump has described his Democratic presidential rival Kamala Harris as a "third-rate phoney candidate" and "more incompetent" than her boss President Joe Biden, amidst indications that she has erased some of his polling advantage in only three weeks as a candidate. In a much-anticipated audio-only interview with billionaire tech magnate Elon Musk on Monday on his social media platform X which was delayed by more than 40 minutes due to technical difficulties, the 78-year-old former president said, 'She is a radical left lunatic," as he alleged that 'she wants to be more Trump than Trump'.

Launching a scathing attack on the 59-year-old US Vice President, Trump, the Republican Party candidate, described Harris as a 'third-rate phoney candidate.' He reiterated his allegation that Biden being replaced by Harris as a presidential candidate of the Democratic Party was a coup.

Musk agreed with the former president and said, "Her behaviour is far left." Musk has already endorsed Trump and indicated that he wants to see him win a second term.

"You are the path to prosperity. And I think Kamala is the opposite," he told Trump.

The event was billed as an interview but Trump made a series of unsubstantiated claims that went without challenge. US media outlets said Trump made at least 20 false claims during his conversation with billionaire supporter Musk. Most of the falsehoods uttered by Trump were claims that have been repeatedly debunked before, some of them for years. They spanned a broad range of subjects, from immigration to the economy to foreign policy to Trump's record in office to Vice President Harris, his Democratic opponent, CNN reported. "She (Harris) had three and a half years, and by the way, they have another five months that they can do something. But they won't do anything. It's all talk," Trump said. "She's incompetent, and he (Biden) is incompetent. And frankly, I think that she's more incompetent than he is, and that's saying something because he's not too good," he said. He said he is in favour of legal immigration and against illegal immigration. PTI

Will make aircraft in India: Naidu

Civil aviation minister says domestic players are first preference to achieve this ambitious task

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AVIATION minister Kinjarapu Ram Mohan Naidu is hopeful of domestic players making aircraft and exporting them to the global market. The minister believes that with the right kind of policy push and support, domestic players can excel in manufacturing civil aircraft.

"The process of building aircraft in India is a work in progress. The major challenge is how to connect it to the industry and make it viable in the long run. Our HAL (Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd) and NAL (National Aerospace Laboratories) are the most important players today, and they have been doing it for the defence sector for a long time. What we are trying to see from the civil aviation side is how we can convert something manufactured for defence and make in civil aviation capable," said Naidu while interacting with TNIE during Delhi Dialogue.

'Open to forming partnerships with global players'

Without giving a dateline as to when India would start making planes, the minister stated that his ministry would do the right policy-making, address the small gaps and give the players positive signs that they are looking towards making this happen. For Naidu, domestic players are his first preference to achieve this highly ambitious task. He, however, is open to forming partnerships with global players

Without giving a dateline as to when India would start making planes, the minister stated that his ministry would do the right policy-making, address the small gaps and give the players positive signs that they are looking towards making this happen.

For Naidu, domestic players are his first preference to achieve this highly ambitious task. He, however, is open to forming partnerships with global players for the exchange of ideas and technical knowledge as according to him manufacturing airplanes is a very precise engineering task.

"We have already encouraged Boeing and Airbus to set up their factories here for spare parts and components. We are encouraging them to do more in the country as it will bring know-how. When a company is trying to make products here, there is a lot of spillover that happens. Some other industries follow on, leading to the formation of a cluster. It is a win-win situation for everyone" said Naidu.

For decades, two major firms – Boeing and Airbus -- have dominated the airplanes manufacturing industry. Boeing currently maintains over 40% market share, while Airbus dominates with over 60% share of the industry. Indian players such as Air India, IndiGo and Akasa have pending orders for more than 1,100 aircraft from these two players.

DoT to discuss Starlink issue in ministerial meet

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE Department of Telecommunications (DoT) is set to convene an inter-ministerial meeting this week to address security concerns related to granting a licence to Elon Musk's Starlink for satellite broadband services in India.

While Jio Satellite Communications and Bharti-backed OneWeb have secured licences, Starlink's application remains pending on security-related issues. A senior DoT official confirmed that the meeting aims to discuss the potential security implications of Starlink's operations in the country. The company has not withdrawn its bid for the Indian market.

"We are meeting this week to discuss the security implications of Starlink services in the country. The company has not withdrawn its bid to start its services in the country," said the official. Starlink, along with Jio Satellite Communications and OneWeb, had applied for the global mobile personal communication by satellite services (GMPCS) licence, which offers satellite communication services in licensed service areas in the country. Jio Satellite Communications and OneWeb have received licence to provide satellite broadband services in the country. Jeff Bezos-led Amazon, too, applied for a licence for its Project Kuiper satellite broadband venture. Elon-Musk-led-Starlink's licence application is still pending.

As per licensing guidelines for Global Mobile Personal Communication by Satellite Services (GMPCS), all traffic originating or terminating within India must pass through a GMPCS Gateway Switch located domestically. Additionally, the licence is contingent upon security clearance from an inter-ministerial committee.

Ather Energy joins unicorn club with $71 mn funding round

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

ELECTRIC two-wheeler manufacturer Ather Energy has entered the unicorn club after securing $71.5 million in Series E round from existing investor National Investment and Infrastructure Fund (NIIF).

It is now valued at about $1.3 billion. However, Ather Energy declined to comment on the fundraising. This fundraising comes at a time when its rival Ola Electric made a debut on stock exchanges. Also, at a time when it is eyeing a listing this year.

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE 54th GST Council meeting is set to take place on September 9,2024, in New Delhi, the authority on Tuesday confirmed on the X official account.

Key expectations include a much-needed overhaul of GST rates, clear guidelines for foreign airlines and shipping companies on deemed import of services and resolution of long-standing disputes related to secondment, according to experts.

"Additionally, the Council is expected to address the GST implications of services provided by foreign branch offices to their Indian headquarters. Industry is hopeful for positive decisions, especially on rate rationalisation, which can stimulate growth and investment. Clarifying the taxation of airlines, shipping, and cross-border services will also provide much-needed relief," said Saurabh Agarwal, Tax Partner, EY India.

It may be recalled that recently the Directorate General of GST Intelligence (DGGI) had sent a notice to Infosys, claiming an alleged evasion of ₹32,000 crore. This move of DGGI had sparked controversy within the IT sector. In response, Nasscom had released a statement addressing the tax demand. There are already discussions going on regarding GST claims from foreign airlines and shipping companies concerning outstanding dues.

Following the previous GST Council meet on June 23, finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman announced that the next meeting will feature a presentation by the Group of Ministers (GoM) on rate rationalisation, led by Bihar Deputy Chief Minister Sumant Chaudhary.

Banking stocks drag down equity market

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DRAGGED by banking stocks, equity fell sharply on Tuesday with the benchmark indices plummeting up to 1% each. The BSE Sensex fell 693 points to settle at 78,956 and the Nifty50 ended 208 pts lower at 24,139. In the broader market, the Nifty Midcap 100 and Smallcap 100 indices fell 0.78% and 1.3%, respectively.

The market capitalisation of BSE-listed firms came down to ₹445.30 lakh crore on Tuesday against ₹449.82 lakh crore in the previous session. "Domestic indices underperformed global equity markets as investors resorted to profit-taking in banking, IT, telecom, metals and oil and gas shares. Despite falling inflation levels, economists were of the view that inflation will rise once again, which could mean that RBI will not be in a hurry to tinker with interest rates in the near term. Also, current market valuations are very high and hence we may witness select profit booking with bouts of intra-day volatility in the near term," said Prashanth Tapse, Senior VP (Research), Mehta Equities.

Much of Tuesday's fall is attributed to a crack in HDFC Bank as it has one of the highest weightages in the Nifty and Sensex. The shares of India's largest private lender fell nearly 3.5% to ₹1,630.6 apiece, wiping out ₹42,205.92 crore from its market valuation. The bluechip stock fell after MSCI announced that the weight of the bank would be gradually raised, in two tranches, to a full weight of 1. In the coming rebalancing on August 30, it will be increased by just 25 bps as against market expectations of 50bps.

FirstCry shares jump 46% in debut trade

NEW DELHI: Shares of e-commerce platform FirstCry's parent Brainbees Solutions on Tuesday ended with a hefty premium of nearly 46% against the issue price of ₹465. The stock made its debut at Rs 625, a jump of 34.40 per cent from the issue price on the BSE. ENS

PHILIPPINES

CENTRAL BANK SEES INFLATION RETURNING TO TARGET

The Philippines' central bank expects that the inflation will soon return to its 2-4% target, with balance of risks to the outlook already shifting to the downside, Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) Governor Eli Remolona said on Tuesday (August 13). The governor said, "We are relieved that monetary policy has evidently helped to tame inflation." While upside risks remain, including from higher transport, electricity and non-rice food items, inflation expectations are well-anchored, he said. Monetary authorities will hold a rate-setting meeting on Thursday. Economists polled Reuters are divided, with 13 of 24 forecasting the BSP will hold it key interest rate steady at 6.50%, while the other 11 expect a 25 basis point cut. Headline inflation accelerated to 4.4% in July, bringing year-to-date print to 3.7%.

JAPAN

WHOLESALE INFLATION RISSES FASTEST IN NEARLY A YEAR

Wholesale inflation in Japan accelerated in July, with the pace of year-on-year growth the fastest in 11 months, as per Bank of Japan data released on Tuesday. A weak yen pushed up commodity import bills that were already high. The corporate goods price index (CGPI), which measures the price companies charge each other for goods and services, rose 3% in July from a year earlier, the data showed. The index, at 123.1, hit a record high for the eighth straight month. It rose from June's 2.9% increase. Inflation data will be scrutinised by the central bank, which raised interest rates on July 31 to levels unseen in 15 years and signalled its readiness to hike borrowing costs further. The yen-based import price index climbed 10.8% in July from a year earlier, accelerating from a revised 10.6% rise in June.

CHINA

FIIS PULL OUT RECORD $15 BN FROM CHINA IN APR-JUN QTR

Foreign investments are shying away from China as economic slowdown and increasing pessimism remain a big concern for the country. The recent shocking investment numbers are proof to it which shows foreign investors have pulled out $15 billion from China in the last quarter (April-June 2024). The direct investment liabilities in China's balance of payments fell nearly $15 billion in the quarter, only the second time the figure turned negative, as per the latest data released by the State Administration of Foreign Exchange. For the first six months, FDIs fell by $5 million. The recent years have seen foreign investment into China dwindling after hitting a record $344 billion in 2021. The Ministry of Commerce data showed FDIs in the first half was the lowest since the start of the pandemic in 2020.

Power plants to receive more coal supplies: CIL

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

STATE-owned Coal India Limited (CIL) on Tuesday announced that it will allow thermal power plants and independent power plants (IPPs) to receive supplies beyond their annual contracted quantity (ACQ).

It said the move will increase CIL's volume sales and simplify the supply process. Previously, CIL had a provision allowing supplies up to 120% of ACQ to power plants and IPPs. Now, the limit has been removed, enabling power plants to lift higher quantities of coal beyond their stipulated ACQ. "Focusing on increasing volume sale, CIL has paved the way for allowing supplies beyond annual contracted quantity to thermal power plants of the country including independent power plants This applies to the Gencos which have signed the fuel supply agreements (FSA) embedded with such an enabling clause," said CIL in a press note.

Users shifting to BSNL after tariff hike by pvt telecom players: Vodafone Idea

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

SUBSCRIBERS' port their mobile connections to Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL) has increased after the tariff hike by the three private sector telecom service providers (TSPs), said Vodafone Idea's chief executive officer, Akshaya Moondra on Tuesday.

Moondra, during the Q1 earnings conference call, also noted that the reason for this migration is that BSNL has not raised its tariffs. However, he expressed that while Vodafone Idea's customers might have initially switched providers due to the tariff hike, they are likely to return after experiencing differences in coverage and 4G service quality.In July 2024, private telecom operators Reliance Jio, Bharti Airtel, and Vodafone Idea raised tariffs by up to 25% for postpaid and prepaid plans.

"One trend we have seen is that porting out to BSNL has generally increased from pre-tariff levels.. The reason for this is, of course, that they have not increased their tariffs, so there is a fair amount of arbitrage. However, we are keeping a close eye on this space. Customers who are used to good coverage and 4G experience may find that BSNL's current offerings do not match up to that extent. People who have made quick decisions based on tariff actions may likely come back, but we will continue to monitor this space," said Moondra.

Moondra also mentioned that there is no major SIM consolidation happening at this time. The reason, Moondra citied that the entry price increase has been minimal this time.

"It has been a little over a month, and sometimes these trends are not very clear. What I would say is that the trends of downtrading, there being a slightly longer time being taken for recharges, and downgrading that people spend the same amount of money on a lower benefit, all these trends, I would say, are largely in line with the previous price increases," Moondra said.

Gopal Vittal, Managing Director of Bharti Airtel, also echoed a similar view, noting that there was no major SIM consolidation following the tariff hike in July 2024, except for a slight impact at the lower end of the market, particularly among 2G users. He said early signs of the tariff hike by TSPs are encouraging, and it has not had a significant impact on telecom subscribers.

Wanted to treat bronze bout as state meet: Aman

Wrestler Aman Sehrawat said when he took the mat for the Olympic bronze medal play-off bout, he was treating it as another state level competition. "First I thought, I am in the semifinal and I lost six points. Then it hit me... I told myself that it isn't an Olympic bout and I'm still fighting at the state level," Aman said on his return from Paris.

There is an increasing feeling that the more time CAS takes, the more it may favour wrestler

VINESH V. UWW & IOC TO CONTINUE

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

THE Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS) pushed back the decision on Vinesh Phogat's appeal for a third time. Now, the ad-hoc panel is expected to come out with a ruling by 9.30 PM IST on Friday. No reasons were given by the CAS. "By application of Article 18 of the CAS Arbitration Rules for the Olympic Games, the President of the CAS Ad Hoc Division extends the time-limit for the Panel to a decision until 16 August at 18h00 (Paris time)," a release from the world body said. Vidushpat Singhania, one of the two lawyers representing the Indian Olympic Association (IOA), an 'interested party' to the case (Vinesh Phogat v. United World Wrestling & IOC), told this daily that the Ad-Hoc panel 'normally decides in 24 hours'.

Article 18 gives the body the power to indefinitely extend this. "The Panel shall give a decision within 24 hours of the lodging of the application," Article 18 says. "In exceptional cases, this time limit may be extended by the President of the Ad-Hoc Division if circumstances so require."

While Singhania couldn't discuss the case specifics as the matter is sub-judice, the sports lawyer did opine that considering 'time has been taken, it maybe good'. "The Ad-Hoc panel normally decides in 24 hours, that is their mandate. But I think the learned arbitrator wants to contemplate... time has been taken, I would assume it's good." He also walked this daily on the flow of events from Thursday morning. "I can't comment about what happened on the 7th (Phogat, who had qualified for the final of the women's 50kg division, was disqualified on the morning of the 7th because, at the time of weigh-in, she was 50.1) as I wasn't involved on that day. I got involved on the 8th where I was providing certain inputs to the authorities. Around that time, the IOA also filed its support brief and CAS issued an order that day that Indian Olympic body would be included as an interested party."

What we know so far

Why has there been a third delay in the judgement?

Your guess is as good as ours. But there is now an increasing feeling these delays may benefit Phogat. It was a thought echoed by Vidushpat Singhania, one of the two lawyers employed by the IOA.

Who are Vinesh's lawyers?

Contrary to some reports, it doesn't have any Indian representation. Her legal team has four French lawyers who are working on a pro bono basis. Joelle Monlouis, Estelle Ivanova, Habbine Kim and Charles Amson. They were the ones who took the case to CAS.

IOA announces presser, then cancels it

Strangely, the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) had announced a press conference with Harish Salve (the other lawyer hired by the IOA in this regard) and PT Usha, IOA head at 9.30 PM on Tuesday, to coincide with the judgement from CAS. However, moments after CAS delayed it, IOA cancelled the scheduled press conference. Wrestling Federation of India (WFI), meanwhile, have maintained a studious silence on the matter.

Who else have said what?

I must say I have a certain understanding for the wrestler, it's clearly a human touch. Now, it's in CAS. We will, at the end, follow the CAS decision — Thomas Bach, IOC president, after the episode

We've all felt that frustration when something important gets delayed, and today, many of us are feeling that as we wait for Vinesh Phogat's CAS judgment. But here's a thought. This is kind of like what athletes go through every four years, waiting for another shot at Olympic glory. The nerves, the anticipation, the "just get here already!" feeling. We've all been there, right? Sport isn't just about what happens on the field - it's about the waiting, the patience, and the persistence to keep going, no matter what. So while we wait for August 16th, let's remember what our athletes endure and cheer them on, knowing they're playing the longest game of them all. — Abhinav Bindra, after the latest delay

I am so sorry for what happened, but no matter the size of your country, athletes are athletes. This weigh-in was public, everyone saw what happened. How can we allow someone to compete when we all saw what happened. — Nenad Lalovic, UWW head, after the incident

Bhagat suspended for 18 months, to miss Paralympics

ENS/AGENCIES

TOKYO gold medallist para shuttler Pramod Bhagat will not be able to defend his title at the Paris Paralympics after he was handed an 18-month suspension for breaching BWF's anti-doping whereabouts clause, leaving the Indian heartbroken.

"The Badminton World Federation can confirm India's Tokyo 2020 Paralympic champion Pramod Bhagat has been suspended for a period of 18 months and will miss the Paris 2024 Paralympic Games," the governing body said in a statement on Tuesday.

"In 1 March 2024, the Court of Arbitration of Sport (CAS) Anti-Doping Division found Bhagat in breach of the BWF anti-doping regulations for committing three whereabouts failures within 12 months." The 36-year-old, an SL3 athlete, said he is saddened by the decision and claimed it was a result of a technical glitch.

"It is an extremely hard decision for me. I respect WADA, I understand they are drawing a line for all players, but to ban someone for technical reasons is not right," Bhagat told a news agency.

"It is not like there is any substance issue, it is an issue of whereabouts failure, which I missed the test twice as I was in a different place but I have all the proof of filing the third time. But they didn't accept my appeal.

"It is a big loss for me. I was preparing for Paris, it is such a big thing for every athlete. I would have been a medallist. It is heartbreaking," Bhagat added. Bhagat had appealed this decision to the CAS Appeals Division but it was rejected last month.

Whereabouts failures for top para shuttler?

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

IN what could turn into another embarrassing moment in Indian sport, months ahead of the Paralympics, one of country's prominent para-badminton players has apparently been facing sanctions over whereabouts failure. It is understood that the matter was taken to the Court of Arbitration for Sports (CAS) over three whereabouts failures in 2022 and the matter was pursued by the World Badminton Federation (BWF). The para-athlete, a Paralympic medallist, apparently missed two tests and one filing failure in last quarter, 2022. The player was not provisionally suspended.

According to BWF anti-doping rule, "2.4 Whereabouts Failures by an Athlete Any combination of three (3) missed tests and/or filing failures, as defined in the International Standard for Results Management, within a twelve (12) month period by an Athlete in a Registered Testing Pool."

"The BWF had apparently informed the player and recorded the three as whereabouts failure in a year. According to World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA), "Athletes commit a missed test when they are not available to [illegible]

We didn't even get desired coach for Olympics: Ashwini

AGENCIES @New Delhi

INDIAN doubles badminton specialist Ashwini Ponnappa on Tuesday said she received little to no individual financial assistance from the sports ministry in the build up to Paris Olympics and even her request for a coach was turned down ahead of the Games.

The Sports Authority of India (SAI) had come out with a document, detailing the financial support provided to the Paris-bound Indian athletes which mentions that Ashwini was provided ₹4,50,000 under TOPS and ₹1,48,04,080 under Annual calender for Training and Competition. "I'm absolutely shocked.. I don't mind not getting money but telling the nation that I got money is ridiculous. I haven't received it. Like if you're talking about national camp, then that 1.5 Crore is spent on all the campers," Ashwini told PTI. "I don't have a specific coach. As for my personalised trainer, I'm paying for him myself. I'm not taking money from anyone. I've played on my own until November (2023). I was included as part of TOPS only after we qualified..."

Gwalior to host India versus B'desh 1st T20I

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

GWALIOR will take the place of Dharamsala to host the first T20I between India and Bangladesh, BCCI said on Tuesday. The change in venue is because of the renovation work being carried out by the Himachal Pradesh Cricket Association.

"The first T20I between India and Bangladesh, initially set to be held in Dharamsala on 6th October 2024, will now take place in Gwalior owing to upgrades and renovation work being carried out by the Himachal Pradesh Cricket Association in the dressing rooms," the BCCI stated in a media release.

This T20I will be the first international match at the new stadium in Gwalior — Shrimant Madhavrao Scindia Cricket Stadium. It will also be the first in the city since Sachin Tendulkar scored the first-ever double century in men's ODIs against South Africa in 2010. Meanwhile, the first and second T20Is against England next year are swapped with Kolkata now hosting the first match. "The dates for the first T20I (22nd January 2025) and the second T20I (25th January 2025) remain the same. The venue change was necessitated following a request from Kolkata Police to the Cricket Association of Bengal regarding their prior Republic Day commitments and obligations," the release said.

Goodbye Paris, focus on Los Angeles

JAIMIE DING & ANDREW DALTON

IT'S Los Angeles' turn for the torch. Mayor Karen Bass accepted the Olympic flag at the Paris closing ceremony on Sunday, before handing it off to a key representative of LA's local business — Tom Cruise — who in a pre-recorded trek via motorcycle, plane and parachute kicked off the countdown to 2028. The city will become the third in the world to host the games three times as it adds to the storied years of 1932 and 1984. Here's a look forward and back in time at the Olympics in LA.

Los Angeles got the 2028 games as a consolation prize when Paris was picked for 2024. Back in 1932, LA hosted its first Olympics. The city was the only bidder for the games at a time marred by the Great Depression and the absence of several nations.

Yet memorable sport moments came from athletes including American athlete Babe Didrikson Zaharias, who won gold medals in the new women's events of javelin and hurdles.

Financial and cultural success gave 1984 a reputation as the "good Olympics" which made seemingly every major world city want their own.

Emphasising both the modern and the classical with a hand from Hollywood, the games opened with decathlon champion Rafer Johnson lighting the torch, a guy in a jetpack descending into the Memorial Coliseum and theme music by "Star Wars" maestro John Williams.

With Eastern Bloc countries boycotting, the US dominated. Carl Lewis and Mary Lou Retton are among the athletes who became household names. A young Michael Jordan led the men's basketball team to gold.

The games renewed, for a while, the global reputation of a city that had been perceived to be in decline.

"We want our games to be a modern games, youthful, full of the optimism that Southern California brings to the world and the globe," Janet Evans, four-time Olympic gold medallist in swimming and chief athlete officer for the LA 2028 organizing committee, said.

Bass, who returned to LA on Monday, said one of the biggest takeaways was the way Paris organisers made the "Olympics for everyone, whether you participated in the games or not."

She gave examples of watch parties held in surrounding cities and breakdancing classes before the competitions.

Joining her were LA28 Chairperson Casey Wasserman, an entertainment executive, and LA councilmember Traci Park, chair of the city Olympic committee.

City council president Paul Krekorian, who joined Bass in bringing the Olympic flag to LA, said they were "going to make this the only city in the world who have ever had three financially successful Olympic Games."

Amid a stadium-and-arena boom, LA will polish existing structures rather than erect new ones. It's a no-build games," Evans said.

After Paris' innovative opening ceremony on the Seine River, LA plans to open with a traditional, stadium-based approach at SoFi Stadium in neighbouring Inglewood that also incorporates the century-old Memorial Coliseum in Los Angeles itself. Home to two NFL teams, SoFi has hosted a Super Bowl and several Taylor Swift concerts since opening in 2020. It will become what organisers say is the largest Olympic swimming venue ever. Its opening ceremony role means swimming will come after track and field for the first time since 1972. AP

REAPING REWARDS

After two golds, Filipino gymnast Yulo to get free buffets for life

AGENCIES @ Manila

FILIPINO gymnast Carlos Yulo, who won two gold medals in the Paris Olympics, flew home to a hero's welcome Tuesday with a nationally televised tribute by the president and donors pledging more than $1 million worth of cash and gifts, including a resort house and free lunch buffets for life.

The 24-year-old's wins in the men's floor exercise and vault were the largest victory ever by a Filipino athlete since the Philippines joined the Games a century ago. Two Filipino boxers, Nesthy Petecio and Aira Villegas, won bronze medals in women's boxing in Paris.

The euphoria over Yulo's wins has provided a respite for a nation long ridden with poverty, deep divisions and conflicts. Arriving in Manila, Yulo and the other Filipino athletes who participated in the Olympics were welcomed by flag-waving admirers who reached out for handshakes and took selfies. The athletes were met by their families before proceeding to the Malacanang palace, where President Ferdinand Marcos Jr. gave them presidential citations and a million pesos each ($17,500).

But Yulo got 20 million pesos ($350,000) from Marcos, who acknowledged the difficulties the athletes went through and "no official technical support from the government," a longstanding complaint.

"They did it on their own. Of course, there are some who helped, sometimes the government is able to help, but there is no formal structure to help our athletes," Marcos said, and promised to fix it.

Cash and gifts pledged separately by other government offices, business tycoons and leading Philippine corporations for Yulo, including a condominium unit and a resort house south of Manila, would amount to more than 58 million pesos ($1 million). Prominent companies offered free pizzas, ice cream and lunch and dinner buffets for life along with free domestic and international flights.

Filipino boxing legend Manny Pacquiao, who rose to global fame for winning titles in eight different weight classes and for his rags-to-riches life story, promised to reward Yulo with an unspecified amount of cash. A celebratory parade for Yulo and the other athletes on Wednesday along Manila's main streets is expected to draw thousands of people. It will pass near a poor community where he grew up and first trained in gymnastics with his siblings in a public gym, where a coach first noticed the impressive skills of the then-7-year-old.

Popyrin wins ATP Montreal Masters title

AGENCIES @ Montreal

ALEXEI Popyrin profited from the mental fragility of Andrey Rublev on Monday as the Australian won the biggest title of his career at the ATP Montreal Masters. World No 62 Popyrin beat sixth-ranked Rublev 6-2, 6-4 in 90 minutes in the US Open tuneup, denying the Russian a second Masters crown this season after winning at Madrid.

Popyrin is the first Australian to win a Masters 1000 title since Lleyton Hewitt in 2003 at Indian Wells.

The only other Aussie to reach a Canadian final was Patrick Rafter in 2001, who lost to Romanian Andrei Pavel.

DAY OF THE ELEPHANTIDAE

WITH WORLD ELEPHANT DAY JUST BEHIND US, IT IS PERTINENT TO NOTE THE MILLIONS OF YEARS OF EVOLUTION THAT FORGED THE MAJESTIC CREATURES THAT NEED OUR HOPE

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE

SOMEWHERE in the African Savannah, as a pride of lions prowls in the tall grass, tracking a gathering of wildebeest, and as a flock of gazelles tiptoes from one lonely Acacia tree to another, constantly watched by a leopard camouflaged in the distance, and as many other predator-prey species play hide-and-seek, there is a majestic movement between all these acts of survival. It has a commanding presence and mostly remains unperturbed by all that is transpiring around. This is the march of the African savanna elephants (Loxodonta africana) – the largest land animals – which are searching for food, water, and mates over a vast territory.

African savanna elephants, also known as African bush elephants, need to eat about 160 kg of vegetation a day, involving grass, leaves, bark, fruit, and foliage, for which they walk over long distances in herds comprising around 10 females (called cows) and their calves. The bulls, which function on their own, associate with these herds only to breed. Several family units often join together to form a 'clan' consisting of up to several hundred members led by a matriarch, and they march. During a prolonged African summer, when rivers and waterholes go dry, elephants are known to migrate as far as over 100 km. And when they are not moving, these lofty creatures stand still or lie down to sleep (for about 2-3 hours in 24 hours), or actively engage in ingesting consumed food, interact with a conspecific species, protect their young from predators, or the calves themselves play-fight each other. Their life is a common sight across the vast Savannah – a tropical-subtropical grassland containing scattered trees and drought-resistant undergrowth – which occupies much of Botswana, Zimbabwe, Tanzania, Kenya, Namibia, Zambia, and South Africa.

The African savanna elephant has an elusive cousin, the African forest elephant (Loxodonta cyclotis), which inhabits the dense rainforests of West and Central Africa. Its preference for dense forest habitats hampers traditional counting methods, such as visual identification. Hence, its population is usually estimated through dung counts. African forest elephants are smaller than their savanna counterparts, reaching a height of 8-10 feet, compared to 10-11 feet, respectively. They also weigh less at 2-5 tons, compared to the savanna elephant's imposing 4-8 tons. African forest elephants live in family groups of up to 20 individuals and forage on leaves, grass, seeds, fruit, and bark. According to the World Wide Fund for Nature (WWF): "Since the diet of forest elephants is dominated by fruit, they play a crucial role in dispersing many tree species. They are therefore referred to as the 'mega-gardener of the forest'." These two sub-types are collectively termed 'African elephant', which along with their far-off relative, the 'Asian elephant', form the unique family 'Elephantidae', which consists of large, herbivorous proboscidean mammals collectively called elephants and mammoths. They belong to the taxonomic order of large terrestrial mammals with a proboscis or snout modified into a trunk, and teeth modified into tusks. Proboscidea is Greek for 'having a nose'. Most specimens in the family are extinct, with only two genera, Loxodonta (African elephants) and Elephas (Asian elephants), surviving today.

It has been theorised that the earliest ancestor of the elephant evolved about 56 million years ago, in the Paleocene Epoch. Called 'Moeritherium', it existed until about 40 mya, and was the first to develop a snorkel-like small trunk. Fast-forward about 20 mya, the evolution of the modern elephant came from a prehistoric elephant species known as Gomphotherium. Gomphotheria were widespread across Africa, Eurasia and North America during the Miocene and Pliocene epochs, and dispersed into South America, during the Pleistocene, as part of the Great American Interchange. Mammalogists suggest that elephants evolved primarily in the Old World and migrated to North America over a period of time. More than 160 extinct proboscidean species (mammals with traits such as trunk, tusks, and a large form) have been identified from fossil remains. These include Phiomia (the beginning of a trunk and tusks), Dinotherе (with upside-down tusks growing downwards from its lower jaw), Platybelodon (with flat tusks in the lower jaw), Mammoth (with a shaggy coat), and Mastodon (with teeth up to 7.5-cm wide and 15-cm long).

Significantly, the mammoth has been closely described as a direct predecessor of the modern elephant. Morphological phylogenetic analyses indicate that Elephas and Mammuthus were sister taxa to Loxodonta. These three elephants developed similar feeding morphologies in parallel, to imbibe specialised grazing. Also, Loxodonta, Elephas and Mammuthus originated in Africa during the Pliocene (about 3.4 mya). Loxodonta remained there, while Mammuthus moved to Eurasia, and the Elephas arrived in Asia. It is the Elephas' direct descendant that we have today in the form of the Asian elephant.

A social animal

The Asian elephant (Elephas maximus) survived, along with its African cousin, adapting to a varied climatic structure in Asia, and owing to its sociable character, learnt to coexist with humans.

The Asian elephant is the largest land mammal in Asia, though smaller than the African elephant. Asian elephants are further classified into: Indian (Elephas maximus indicus), Sumatran (Elephas maximus sumatrensis), and Sri Lankan (Elephas maximus maximus). They inhabit a varied topography, and are extremely versatile at surviving extremes. From dry to wet forest and grassland habitats in 13 range countries, spanning South and Southeast Asia, the Asian elephant is a familiar resident. While they prefer forage plants, these animals have adapted to surviving on resources that vary based on area. "Asian elephants are extremely sociable, forming groups of six to seven related females that are led by the oldest female, the matriarch. Like African elephants, these groups occasionally join others to form larger herds, although these associations are relatively short-lived. In Asia, elephant herd sizes are significantly smaller than those of savanna elephants in Africa," says WWF.

Elephants have survived and inspired for millions of years. Today, they stand endangered, from habitat loss, poaching for ivory, and big game hunting in certain African countries, but significant conservation efforts are yielding results. But more needs to be done to fix the proverbial elephant in the room.

INTERESTINGLY, AFRICAN AND ASIAN ELEPHANTS CAN NEVER BREED AMONG THEMSELVES IN THE WILD, OWING TO THEIR SEPARATE EVOLUTIONARY PATHS IN FAR-FLUNG GEOGRAPHIES

Where they are different

African elephants have much larger ears that look sort of like the continent of Africa, while Asian elephants have smaller, round ears. Both elephants flap their ears to dissipate body heat

African elephants have rounded heads, while Asian elephants have a twin-domed head, which means there's a divot line running up the head

Both male and female African elephants can have tusks, but only male Asian elephants can grow them. However, not all male Asian elephants nor all African elephants necessarily develop tusks

African savanna elephants are ~8,000 kg and are between 10 and 13 feet at the shoulder (African forest elephants are a bit smaller), while Asian elephants weigh ~5,500 kg and, at most, are 11.5 feet at the shoulder.

African elephants typically have four nails on each front foot, and three on each back foot, while Asian elephants have five nails on each front foot, and four on each back foot

Malayalam actor Roshan Mathew, speaks to CE about his co-stars in Ulajh, his previous Hindi movie Darlings with Alia Bhatt and Shefali Shah, and getting comfortable with Hindi cinemas

BLENDING IN

MONIKA MONALISA

ACTOR Roshan Mathew, a well-known face in the Malayalam film industry, is just three-movies-old in Bollywood but has already made his mark. Even as he is currently juggling work commitments in the Southern film industries and Bollywood, he still does not feel the need to have a manager for himself. Mathew believes that there has been no discernible change in his life apart from the fact that he visits Mumbai more often now, almost on a monthly basis. "There have been a couple of instances where I've been recognised. At most, I get a customary nod, or people approaching me to say they like my work, or a request for a picture. My life in Kochi hasn't changed much either, apart from choosing not go to a crowded mall on a weekend!" says Mathew.

Mathew's last movie was Ulajh – his first Hindi-language theatrical release – starring Janhvi Kapoor and Gulshan Devaiah. "I have always been in awe of Gulshan's work from the time of Shaitan. Unfortunately, I didn't have any scenes with him. I got along with Janhvi well. She brings sincerity to the sets," says Mathew.

A still from Ulajh | RUCHIT RAJGURU

Along with Ulajh's release, Mathew celebrated the milestone anniversary of the release of Darlings, the 2022 OTT film starring Alia Bhatt, Shefali Shah, and Vijay Varma. "In all the three films that I've done, I found some very talented, inspiring people to work with and have continued to be friends with them even after the completion of the project. That itself is a big thing. It's not something that happens after every project. You'd be very lucky if you find a group of people like that," says Mathew.

Whether as Sushanth in Choked, Zulfi in Darlings, or Sebin in Ulajh, Mathew has managed to fit into his roles quite seamlessly. Having his base in the Malayalam movie industry, which is known for critically-acclaimed stories, Mathew emphasises that he picks roles without bias.

"If I pick a movie, it is purely so that I can act. It is going to be a film that I believe in. That's true of any of work I do in any language. When I'm choosing to go away from home and work in an industry that is not technically my home base, I want to make sure that it's a project that will keep me excited and inspired," says Mathew, who last Malayalam release was the film Paradise, which also stars Darshana Rajendran and was co-produced by Mani Ratnam.

Having been raised in Kottayam, Mathew has a sweet spot for Bengaluru since it was the first 'big city' he ever visited. "I have travelled so much to the city for theatre work. Even recently I was in the city for my shoot and the promotion of Ulajh," he says.

Directed by veteran thespian Arundhati Raja, the production Bali: The Sacrifice offers a night of pathos, anger, and laughter

A still from the play

Morality, Mayhem & Mirth

DESE GOWDA

Arundhati Raja

AMONG writer, playwright, and filmmaker Girish Karnad's most notable works, Hittina Hunja stands out for its profound exploration of the complexities of human morality, particularly the intoxicating nature of power and its potential to blind individuals to their own vulnerabilities. Following the successful debut of a production based on the English translation of Hittina Hunja, titled Bali: The Sacrifice, thespian and Jagriti Theatre co-founder Arundhati Raja is bringing the play back later this month.

For Raja, this production continues her long-standing relationship with Karnad's works. "This is the third Girish Karnad play I have directed. The earlier two were The Dreams of Tipu Sultan and Yayati. It was after producing Yayati that I became interested in Bali: The Sacrifice," she shares.

Highlighting the emotional and ethical dilemmas that define Karnad's storytelling, she adds, "Both of these plays, based on classic Indian tales, feature strong female characters who take charge of their lives and futures, as well as strong male characters torn between these women, between what is right and what is wrong, not knowing which path to follow."

Bali: The Sacrifice explores the story of a king caught between the contrasting ideologies of his Jain queen, who embodies non-violence to the extent of refusing to harm even a fly, and his mother, who is steeped in the tradition of sacrificial rituals. "As with all good plays, every issue in the play resonates with the contemporary world around us: the expectations placed on women in this patriarchal world, caste differences, religious differences, and violence," says Raja. "With the recent violence surrounding us, we must consider what exactly constitutes violence and whether it is ever acceptable."

The play, with its potent themes, not only reflects the times but also serves as a call for introspection. "As always, I hope the audience will enjoy and understand the play in a way that sparks debate and perhaps even action in their personal lives, if not in the wider world," Raja adds, emphasising the role of theatre in provoking thought and inspiring change. However, she is reserved about revealing the specific moments in the play that she finds most impactful, preferring that audiences experience them firsthand. "There are both humorous and disturbing moments. But I don't want to delve into what those here. The impact of live theatre lies in the mirror it holds up to the audience. It needs to be experienced, not read about," she adds.

(Bali: The Sacrifice will be staged between Aug 30 and Sept 1 at Jagriti Theatre, Whitefield. Tickets priced at ₹400 on bookmyshow.com)

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

1. The three major lifelines of 'Pettah' (an old fortified township that Kempegowda built in 1537) were the Dharmambudhi, Sampangi and the Siddikatte Lake. All three fell victim to the rapid and unbridled urbanisation of the city. In 1963, one of these lakebeds which stood on the western side of Bengaluru fort was handed over to the transport department by the Karnataka government to build a bus station; the lakebed was entirely transformed into a major bus terminus. The bus station popularly known as Majestic Bus Station was opened in the year 1969 and was later renamed Kempegowda Bus Station. Name the lakebed on which the Bus station stands today.

2. Kanteerava Stadium was built in Bengaluru in 1946 and was named after the Mysore Maharaja Kanteerava Narasimharaja Wadiyar. On which historic lakebed is the stadium built? A surviving small remnant of this huge lake is still worshipped as part of the ritual of the annual Karaga festival.

3. Krishnarajendra Market, well known by its abbreviated name KR Market, is an iconic landmark in Bengaluru. The new market, named after Krishnarajendra Wodeyar, the Maharaja of erstwhile Mysore state, was opened on October 11, 1921. The market was built in the vicinity where many small informal markets (santhe) that existed around a lake called Siddikatte. Siddikatte stood very close to the Yelahanka gate of the Bengaluru fort. True or false?

A GEMSTONE ODYSSEY

Unveiling the hidden human stories behind Africa's gem trade, author Richa Goyal Sikri's No Stone Unturned blends adventure with a style reminiscent of Malgudi Days and Indiana Jones

RIYA YADAV

AMID the chaos of blazing guns, armed bandits and humour, author Richa Goyal Sikri deftly weaves in nuggets of information about the trade of coloured stones in the African continent in her latest book No Stone Unturned: The Hunt for African Gems (Austin Macauley Publishers Ltd). Set in the vast terrains of Africa, the book strings together 24 stories based on true events around notable gem traders over the last 60 years.

With its narrative style reminiscent of the eminent author RK Narayan's Malgudi Days and the action-packed stories of Indiana Jones, Sikri calls it a deliberate fusion of both. "I believe the book is a cross between Malgudi Days and Indiana Jones. "I'm a big fan of RK Narayan's writing, I wanted to capture those elements that exist in Africa which I've seen and experienced during my travels," she says.

The process of writing the book took four long years for the author, also a journalist, who delved into extensive research and interviews of industry leaders who were willing to share their stories. "If we don't document these stories, vital historical moments and knowledge about these gemstones will die with them. The first challenge was to identify the individuals who had tales to tell, convince them to participate, and allow me to explore their memory palaces over several interviews, extracting vital details that I combined with fictional elements to craft a story," explains Sikri. "The next part involved conducting secondary research. The final touch was writing an author's note for each story, which updated the reader not only about the protagonist in the story but also the featured gemstone."

Sikri believes that in the long and gruelling process of mining precious stones from Africa, human stories were left untold. While most mining companies were owned by foreigners, including Indian traders, she believes it was imperative that the stories also reflected the land these gemstones came from. "We needed the book to be inclusive and to represent stories that are indigenous to Africa and of indigenous people. So, 50 per cent of the people are hidden figures, ones that even the industry doesn't know about. They are people who are still struggling to hit that big gemstone pocket in their mind, or who are still finding their way to make it rich," she shares.

Many stories in the book reflect the geo-political and social state of affairs of the years the stories are based on. One such story is of renowned gem hunter Guy Clutterbuck on his first visit to Africa in 1985, giving a glimpse of its impacts. First, where he was dressed in military uniform and was held at gunpoint by the Zaire police as they call him a 'mercenary'. Second, when he, along with fellow passengers, is stopped for inoculation by a man in a dirty white coat, who then proceeds to inject everyone with the same needle. It was around the same time that HIV had been exploding across the country.

"Colonisation brought many geologists and mining engineers along with their expertise to the African continent. Even if they were here for self-centred reasons, they ended up mapping out the mineral wealth of the entire continent. However, if it were the geo-political issues that impacted the work earlier, it is corruption, which does so now. It prevents institutional players from investing in proper mining and trading operations in a country," explains Sikri.

The author points out how mining in Africa has been stereotyped as the mining of blood diamonds. The country is often overlooked for its good work in discovering coloured stones, she says, adding, that if one hears of the country, they either think of national geographic, or blood diamonds, nothing in between. "The stories in the book show the other side of the country. While it provides Malgudi Days or Indiana Jones-like entertainment, it also gives a glimpse of the rich culture and their lifestyle," she says.

Talking about the struggles of bringing the stone to the market, Sikri hopes that the book shows the toil that goes behind these stones that reach people's hands. "Every story shares small facts readers may not even realise they're learning. They will be armed with questions to make better purchases for themselves. It will transport them to a vibrant world where they will learn, laugh, fall in love and, like me, never want to leave," she adds.

THE DYING ART OF HORROR MOVIES

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon
(Writer, comedian)

I tried watching a horror movie recently, just for the thrills. Earlier, you watched a movie to laugh, cry or be motivated. Today, I watch a film hoping to feel something. Anything. I scroll through the options like my father in a buffet and realise that it's difficult to be moved by anything anymore. Even horror movies, the most emotion-inducing of all the genres, fail to make me flinch.

I am not particularly afraid of ghosts. Of course, I would listen to all the stories. My grandmother was once attacked by a ghost. She quickly reached for the Bhagwad Gita under her pillow and the ghost scampered away. At school, rumours surfaced about a ghost called 'Shambhulingam' who caught people going to the toilet at night. The ghosts around my colony ate up kids who walked the streets alone. My aunts told me about a vagabond who picked up naughty kids. Gradually, a pattern began to emerge. Every ghost attacked the kids who didn't follow the rules in place.

If ghosts really do exist, they should be paying filmmakers for reinforcing their identity over the decades. For spreading awareness among humans and keeping them relevant. Ghosts in the movies came with their own rules. They vanished if you showed them a Cross or an idol of God. Priests and pundits seemed to have an upper hand over them. It's only a theory, but since most books and movies are made by men, most ghosts are women dressed in white. They are out to seduce men and eventually kill them. Their hair is perfectly shampooed and conditioned – like in an ad for 'Loreal – 'cos you're dead babe'! Interestingly, when women writers like Toni Morrison and Mary

Shelly created ghosts and monsters, they were a little more humane!

But horror movies still freaked me out. I remember screaming aloud when the security guard's head was twisted in Bhoot. Or when the girl in the white dress walked out of the TV to ask for Parachute oil for her hair. My disillusionment with ghosts happened due to two reasons. One, I stopped believing in God. And while the one-off shadow scared me, I found it ridiculous to believe in ghosts after rejecting the idea of god. Most people who believe in God, also believe in ghosts, black magic and other unexplainable phenomena like Baba Ramdev's Coronil. The second reason was my interest in filmmaking and sound design. A few years into reviewing movies, I began to obsess over sound design in filmmaking. I learnt about the magic of using sound to accentuate an emotion. When I heard a jump scare in a movie, I was more interested in the camera angles and sound effects used.

However, the real exorcist of all horror films arrived in a few years. With smartphones, it is impossible to be afraid of anything at all. How can you be scared of a ghost on a screen when there's a smaller screen in front of you? Today, our demons are all inside our heads. They show up not in dark alleys, but on 1000 nits screens (with adaptive brightness). They pop their heads up as we judge and compare ourselves with those around us. They squeeze our minds and squelch them into a pulp till we are hollow ghosts of ourselves. Today, the demons in my head mock the comparably innocent demons in movies. They look at ghosts and spirits as funny memes – only a representation of the truth. And to be horrified, I simply have to watch the latest Bollywood release and look at my wallet later. Horror movies are dead, and someone needs to perform their final rites!

ROMANCE AND FAMILY DRAMAS STILL HAVE A PLACE DESPITE EVOLVING GENRES

...says Ganesh as he discusses his next film Krishnam Pranaya Sakhi, directed by Srinivas Raju, shifts in audience behaviour, the importance of strong content, and his unfulfilled dream of working with legendary Vishnuvardhan

A SHARASHAA

ROMANCE on big screen is timeless, and Ganesh, the enduring romantic hero of the Kannada film industry, exemplifies its evergreen appeal. Popular as the Golden Star, Ganesh admits that his connection to romance on screen keeps him feeling youthful. Interestingly, even a director like Srinivas Raju, who previously helmed crime films like Dandupalya, finds himself drawn to casting Ganesh in a romantic film, Krishnam Pranaya Sakhi.

"I love being known as a romantic hero, and I see no need to change that image. If an interesting role comes along, I'm open to it, but even crime stories should look beautiful," he chuckles. "However my audience loves seeing me as the family hero, the boy-next-door, or even like a son. Their satisfaction is my priority—they should always feel comfortable watching my films with their families, and I aim to meet their expectations," Ganesh explains with a smile, ahead of the film's release on August 15.

While the current trend has shifted away from romantic films, it's not about losing interest, says Ganesh. "Today's audiences crave larger-than-life experiences, whether it be romance, family drama, or crime thrillers. It's not just about small budgets anymore; everything counts—big budgets, star power, production value, and marketing. Genres change every six to eight years, and right now, people want colourful, vibrant films," Ganesh explains. "OTT platforms might lean towards crime, but the audience's mood remains clear—they enjoy a good story without confusion. Even though genres in cinema are always evolving, romance still has a place in this commercial setup," he adds.

Krishnam Pranaya Sakhi is a family drama where the protagonist cherishes his family and life partner. "The value of togetherness is at the heart of the story, and love finds its way," says Ganesh, who reveals little about the film, urging audiences to watch it in theatres. Interestingly, the makers decided not to release a trailer, a move that keeps curiosity alive—something that goes back to old-school thinking. "I believe withholding the trailer will work. We wanted to try something new, even if it's an old trick to draw audiences to theatres. Though I initially wanted a trailer, my director's perspective convinced me," he says.

Ganesh shared his initial doubts when Srinivas Raju, known for crime thrillers, approached him with a love drama. "I wasn't sure at first, but when he narrated the story, I realised he could deliver a great family drama. He blended my style with his directorial touch, and as promised, he delivered."

The actor has intentionally reduced the number of films he takes on, focusing on quality over quantity. "Today, people expect quality cinema and big productions that take more time to create. But I shouldn't limit myself to just one film a year. I'll increase it to two, benefiting not only myself but also the industry and everyone involved in filmmaking," he adds. "Every film comes with its own set of hype; with each film, it's the audience that decides whether it will succeed or fail from the first ticket sold, not just the 'houseful' board. Every film is a challenge, and I'm ready for it."

Reflecting on Mungaru Male, which became a Kannada blockbuster and reached a Pan-India audience, Ganesh shares his perspective on pan-India films today: "First, we need to make good films rooted in our culture; the rest will follow. If I do a good job, I'm sure it will be appreciated worldwide. Unlike in the past, remakes don't work today, but if a movie is good, it can be dubbed and released."

Commenting on the shift in audience behaviour, with fewer people going to theatres, he says, "As I said earlier, I believe in making good movies—if the content is strong, people will come. The experience should be meaningful; when someone leaves the theatre, they should have some takeaway from the film. Social media offers little pleasures, but cinema is different—it will never lose its charm."

Ganesh has an exciting lineup of films ahead. He's set to star in a film directed by AR Vikhyath alongside Ramesh Aravind, and another with Nanda Kishore titled Shiva Gana, where he'll share the screen with Shivarajkumar for the first time. Additionally, he's in talks for a project with Pannaga Bharana.

"I grew up watching Ramesh Aravind's films, and he inspired me to become an actor. Sharing the screen with him is a dream come true. Working with Shivanna is also a pleasure—I've admired his action since childhood, and I'm grateful for the opportunity to act alongside him," says Ganesh, who also opens up about his unfulfilled dream. "I always dreamt of working with Vishnuvardhan but never got the chance. My father was a fan of Rajkumar, and the legend Annavaru was like a father figure to me. I looked up to Vishnu Sir and wanted to work with him. I had expressed my desire, but the opportunity did not come," he signs off.

I won't carry the baggage of expectations: SAMARJIT

...says debutant actor as he chats at length about his launchpad Gowri, his lineage, his fascination with the process and craftsmanship of filmmaking, and his determination to carve his own path in the industry

SAMARJIT Lankesh, born in a family with deep ties in cinema and literature, has a rich legacy to draw from. His father Indrajit Lankesh and aunt Kavitha Lankesh are filmmakers. His grandfather, P Lankesh, was a well-known literary figure and filmmaker. And his other aunt, the late Gauri Lankesh, was a firebrand journalist and activist.

Despite this illustrious family background, Samarjit is determined to carve his own path in the industry. Stepping into the limelight with his debut film Gowri, a launchpad directed by his father Indrajit Lankesh, the actor minces no words when he asserts that talent and hard work are the true keys to success in cinema. "Regardless of my background, I believe that only genuine talent, combined with dedication, can secure a place in this vast field of cinema," he says. He acknowledges the significant influence of his grandfather's literary achievements and the bold, fearless nature of his aunts. He admires their unapologetic approach and strives to embody their courage and creativity in his own work.

Growing up, Samarjit was more fascinated by the process and craftsmanship behind filmmaking rather than the glamour and star power. "I spent my childhood on my father's film sets, observing the intricate workings and learning the ropes, rather than focusing on the fame or fanfare," he reflects. "My aunts had storytelling conversations, which piqued my interest in that aspect of filmmaking. This hands-on experience, coupled with my family's legacy, has deeply shaped my understanding and approach to acting," says the newcomer ahead of the film's release on August 15.

Addressing the topic of nepotism, Samarjit is candid about the inevitable scrutiny that comes with being launched by his father. "Even if I had debuted with another director, people would have still talked about nepotism. It's something that comes with being part of a film family. But in this case, my father had a story, and I just happened to fit the role as an actor," says Samarjit, who also mentions that the decision to work together was driven by the script alone.

The title of the film, Gowri, has a special significance to Samarjit as it alludes to his journalist aunt Gauri Lankesh. Sharing the story behind the title, Samarjit says, "It was something of a puzzle that fell into place perfectly. The title not only honors my aunt but is also deeply connected to my central character, Gowrishankar, in the film. He's a local hero with big dreams."

When asked how he would rate Indrajit Lankesh's work as a director, Samarjit expresses admiration for his father's unique filmmaking style. "I loved his stylised approach to cinema. But I've always wished to see him direct a full-fledged mass entertainer, something that leans heavily into action and drama—genres I've always enjoyed. With Gowri, he's taken on this challenge, and I think it's been a refreshing experience for him."

As a newcomer with a well-known surname, 'Lankesh', Samarjit acknowledges that it comes with added pressure of expectations. Having industry stalwarts like Sudeep and Upendra, along with other prominent actors supporting the film, only heightens the stakes for Gowri. But Samarjit remains grounded. "Their support means a lot to me and my father. It's the result of his long-standing relationships in the industry. While there's definitely pressure, I try to approach this as a newcomer, focusing on my work and not carrying the baggage of expectations," he concludes.
